... his voice is stilled

Lewis --- Voice of Righteous Wrath

WASHINGTON (UPI) —John L. Lewis burst onto the American labor scene at a time when coal was king.

When he departed thousands of coal miners in Appalachia and elsewhere in the nation were out of work. They had been replaced by bulldozers, augurs, and trucks. Coal had been replaced by gas, oil and even the atom.

But while coal reigned, so did John L. Lewis. His mighty voice and righteous wrath were legend to some and terror to others. But they were his tools in dominating the American labor movement for a half century.

He died Wednesday night at the age of 89.

Retired Nine Years Ago

Lewis, longtime president of the United Mine Workers of America (UMW) and first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO), retired nine years ago as head of the Mine Workers. He had warred with presidents, industrialists and other union leaders.

Until recently he came from his home in suburban Alexandria, Va., every day to his sixth-floor office in the UMW Building in Washington in his post as chairman of the trustees of the huge UMW Welfare and Retirement Fund.

Many said the fund which he won after a long strike and bitter battle with President Harry S. Truman in 1946 was his greatest monument.

He entered Doctors Hospital Sunday. Death came at 7:15 p.m. EDT from what Dr. Marcel Foret called "an acute illness" pending outcome of an autopsy.

He was survived by a son,

Dr. John L. Lewis Jr., who practices in Baltimore, Md.; a brother, R. O. Lewis, Fort Myers, Fla., former UMW vice president; and a sister, Mrs. Edith Collins, Kansas City. He was preceded in death by his wife, Myrtle Edith Bell, a former Iowa school teacher, in 1942; a daughter, Kathryn, once active in the labor movement; and another daughter, who died in childhood.

Began as Coal Digger

Descended from a long line of Welsh miners, Lewis began his career as a coal digger as a youngster in Lucas, Iowa, where he was born on Abraham Lincoln's birthday—Feb. 12, 1880.

Lincoln freed the American slaves, Lewis' most ardent and emotional supporters later seized on his birth date as an omen Lewis would free the "industrial slaves."

A master of the English language who polished his usage by reading the Bible and Shakespeare, Lewis used words to cut his opponents down to size.

During a mining dispute in the late 1930s, President Franklin D. Roosevelt quoted Shakespeare and said a "plague on both your houses." Lewis replied:

"It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace."

Move to Illinois

In 1907, the year of his marriage, the young couple moved to Illinois, and a year later Lewis began his career in labor when he was elected legislative representative of District 12, UMW.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, heard of his work and appointed him to his staff. In 1917 he was elected to the vice presidency of the UMW, and in 1919 he became its president.

Walter L. Hart, editor of the Morgantown, W.Va., Dominion-News, biographer and 50-year friend of Lewis, said Lewis' labor reign began in September, 1919 under a crabapple tree in Osage, W.Va., a small town in the heart of the Great Scot's Run Coal Field. Lewis got up and said:

"The working man has as much right to gather together to improve his lot in life by talking with management as Judge Elbert Gary had in putting together Carnegie Steel and other firms to form U.S. Steel Corp."

Rondout School Budget Defeated, 881 to 801

By SHANE CROSBY

KYSERIKE
In a repeat of last year, but with about two-thirds of the 1968 voter turnout, taxpayers in the Rondout Valley Central School District Wednesday defeated their board of education's proposed budget.

The 881 to 801 defeat and the alternatives open to the board will be discussed at the June 17 meeting of the board as members consider a re-vote as was done last year, or changes that may include another year of austerity for the school.

Going down with the record $4,122,169 budget were two propositions asked for by petitions from district voters. One called for an increase in the budget of $42,000 and the other asked for a cut of more than $250,000. Both lost by about 200 votes.

One proposition sought an additional $42,000 to continue remedial reading with a consultant in the elementary grades after the board had shifted personnel to a seventh and eighth grade level reading skills program. That lost 938 to 761.

The second asked that the Central Administration and Instructional sections of the budget be reduced by $19,000 and $233,000 respectively—a return to the figures of last year's austerity budget. It lost by 968 to 726.

The only proposition on the ballot passed by voters was for a plan to resume cafeteria service with a debt limit of $5,000. The board placed the cafeteria on the ballot for a guide in considering reopening the lunch program. The program was closed under last year's austerity program. The proposition passed 871 to 859.

Alternatives open to the board include resubmission of the same budget with or without the propositions and their suggested changes, resubmission of an altered budget, bring nearer the threat of adoption of a lower but curtailing austerity program.

Under state law, voter approval is not needed for adoption of an austerity measure. The board would be regulated as to what can be spent in the austerity (or contingency) measure and items cut from it would include interscholastic activities, some text book orders, cafeteria food service and transportation in some areas.

Results of other school board budget votes and elections are on pages 2 and 4.

Last year's 1968-69 austerity budget, enacted after two defeats at the hands of voters, was amended to include $57,000 for transportation and extra curricular activities.

Following a tally of votes in the high school gym, Superintendent Ted T. Grenda put the blame for the budget's defeat on the two money propositions.

As for the future, all Grenda would comment after the defeat was, "The board will consider the matter at the June 17 meeting."

Had the budget been approved without the amending propositions, the tax rate for the district would have been $26.08 on true value, up $2.22.

Last year's proposed budget of $3,853,025 carried a tax rate of $24.86; with the final austerity budget bringing the rate down to $23.86 on a figure of $3,801,381.

The proposition to reduce the budget would have brought the latest figure down to the austerity figure used last year in Central Administration and Instruction.

Grenda had predicted that adoption of the budget with a $233,000 decrease, would have resulted in the loss of between 15 and 17 teaching positions and a cut in services that would amount to "a disaster for the district."

Rhinebeck Rejects Million-Plus Budget

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
The no votes outnumbered the yes votes in Wednesday night's Rhinebeck Central School 1969-70 budget decision by the voters.

Of 635 voting on the budget, 336 said no and 297 yes. Two votes were void.

James Cecil, in his "first time running for anything," ousted incumbent James Kelly from the Board of Education seat for a five-year term. Of 622 votes cast, Cecil polled 324 and Kelly 264.

The $1,787,417.75 budget will have to be revamped and submitted once again to the voters. An estimated increase in property taxes from $19.91 to $23.81 or $3.90 per thousand, was the basis for the budget.

Board of Education President Robert W. Asher said "We will call a special board meeting before the reorganizational meeting to decide upon the next course of action." It must be at least 30 days before the public can vote on a new budget.

Although the budget was turned down by the voters, a separate item was given an overwhelming endorsement. Permission to spend up to $9,100 for a new school bus was approved by a 408 to 216 margin, with one void and two blank votes, out of 627 cast.

The Rhinebeck Teachers Association, while still at odds with the Board of Education over proposed salaries, said that it wholeheartedly endorsed passing the budget.

"At least it was close," said board member Hans Boehm.

The election of Cecil over incumbent Kelly was deemed somewhat of an upset by all persons encountered. "Did you really expect to win by 60 votes?" he was asked by The Freeman.

"No, I didn't expect to win at all," he replied. "I must give much credit for persevering to my wife, who kept after me to run," he added.

Some of Cecil's answers at the annual meeting this week indicated that he is seriously concerned with the "morale problem" at the school. "I feel that morale is the largest single problem in the school, outweighing even financial considerations," he said.

In regard to the impasse over teachers' salaries, and other considerations, Cecil felt that salaries should be "in the same category as neighboring schools." He said he would accept the findings of a PERB fact finder, "with reservations."

Cecil will get a chance to put his ideas to work beginning with the July meeting of the Rhinebeck Board of Education. His first task will include paring down the present budget offering. "It is quite an initiation," he said.

Saigon to Red Spokesmen: Up to You on Withdrawal

PARIS (UPI)—South Vietnam Negotiator Pham Dang Lam told the Communists today that "many more" American troops could be withdrawn from South Vietnam "if your side demonstrates its goodwill for peace at this meeting and on the battlefield."

Both Lam and U.S. negotiator Lawrence E. Walsh dismissed the establishment of the Viet Cong's "revolutionary government" as insignificant. Walsh offered the Communist side a new and flexible formula for peace.

There was no reciprocal offer from the Communist. Instead, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the woman guerrilla who became head of the Viet Cong delegation, called the Midway meeting a farce and appealed for world support for the new "provisional revolutionary government."

Her statement which repeated Communist demands for a unilateral U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam reflected obvious Viet Cong disappointment that the world Communist bloc did not rush to recognize the government in which she is foreign minister, diplomatic sources said.

Mme. Binh, reflecting obvious Viet Cong disappointment that the world Communist bloc did not rush to recognize the government in which she is foreign minister, asked for support from the Communists and from the "peace-loving and progressive countries" through out the world.

Guerrilla rockets and mortars continue the heavy bombardment against Vietnam towns and Allied camps . . . Story Page 38.

Communist sources admitted they were disappointed that the Soviet Union had not recognized the "government" which the Viet Cong announced Wednesday was taking the place of the National Liberation Front (NLF).

Syria's left-wing regime today joined Algeria in recognizing the "provisional government." Yugoslavia's political and social organizations sent a cable welcoming the move. Russia so far has only reported the list of cabinet members.

As expected, Hanoi gave full support to the provisional government. Chief Hanoi negotiator Col. Ha Van Lau said today his government "considers it as the true and legal representative of the South Vietnamese population."

Mme. Binh was the first speaker at today's 21st session of the peace talks. Before it opened, Lawrence E. Walsh, the acting chief American negotiator, said he was taking "the message of Midway" to the meeting. This is that the allies are determined that "the people of South Vietnam will not be put under Communist domination against their will."

As for the presence of the "provisional revolutionary government," the United States and South Vietnam were acting as if nothing had changed. Most of the Viet Cong negotiators were the same, and a U.S. State Department spokesman called the new government "old wine in new bottles."

Support Appeal
Diplomatic observers said Mme. Binh's appeal at the peace conference session for "stronger support" implied that the Viet Cong do not think they are getting adequate support for the Paris talks.

Walsh, taking the place of Henry Cabot Lodge, who was in Washington, brushed aside the Viet Cong's newly formed provisional government as insignificant. He spoke to newsmen as he entered the weekly session of the peace talks.

Walsh said the June 8 Midway Island meeting between President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu was of great importance.

"The importance of today's session is the message of Midway," Walsh said. "We think this is important in the history of the war, and in the history of the negotiations."

"As far as the war is concerned, it dramatizes the ability of the United States to now begin to reduce its effort as the South Vietnamese are able to replace American armed forces."

Three Elected to School Board Posts in New Paltz

NEW PALTZ, an incumbent board member Taxpayers in the New Paltz Central School District, who approved a record budget at their annual district meeting here Tuesday night, returned to the polls on Wednesday to select three members for the Board of Education.

The turnout for the school board election was light, slightly more than 50 per cent of the registered voters in the district and an even smaller percentage of the eligible voters participated. However, most observers agreed that the results indicated taxpayers support of educational growth.

Elected to serve three-year terms on the nine man school board were John Hain, professor of education at the State University, at New Paltz; the Rev. Paul R. Mertzluft, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church, New Paltz, and Donald Martin,

REV. PAUL R. MERTZLUFFT

During the course of the campaign, all of the successful candidates, while indicating their concern regarding the cost of running local schools, came out strongly in favor of expanding the educational facilities in the school district. All three won by decisive margins.

Martin, the only out-going board member who offered himself for reelection, defeated Sam Bodanza, an assistant professor of education at the State University by a 338 to 233 vote margin.

During the course of the campaign, Martin, who is also a past president of the New Paltz P.T.A. and the parent of three school-age children, said that he felt his initial term to be an "apprenticeship." Martin said that as a board member he would support "the best possible education within reasonable financial limits." The seat on the board vacated by board president Ash-ton Hart, was won by the Rev. Mr. Mertzluft who was contested by four other candidates.

Mertzluft received 338 votes and his opponents, John K. Ash-ton, an engineer, Dr. Martin Rubin, a dentist, and Mario administrator.

Dattolo, a retired teacher received 138, 108, and 83 votes respectively.

The Rev. Mr. Mertzluft has been pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church since he came to New Paltz 10 years ago. He said during the campaign that since so many of the problems of the church today parallel those of the school his background in church service would bring valuable experience to his position on the board.

The Rev. Mr. Mertzluft, who is married and has three sons attending schools in New Paltz Central School District, believes that the Board of Education should encourage the citizens of New Paltz to support education.

Educational Career

Dr. Hain, who received 435 votes, running unopposed, has spent his entire career in education, an engineer, Dr. Martin Rubin, a dentist, and Mario administrator.

Prior to his election he said that he is "dedicated to the principles of public education, social mobility, equal opportunity, and universal literacy," which he said "to a remarkable degree American schools have achieved."

On Tuesday night, along with the $2,656,153 budget, the taxpayers of the New Paltz Central School District approved three special resolutions, including one relating to the manner in subsequent elections for vacant board seats the candidates would run at large rather than for specific seats.

Legislators Face Many Resolutions

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON—Thirteen resolutions have been filed by Ulster County legislators for action on the part of the board at its regular meeting tonight. Among the measures are two that are being reintroduced—one calling for a work release program for prisoners and the other asking that a Historical Landmarks Commission be established.

New legislation to be introduced includes a resolution submitted by Chairman Peter J. Savago, calling for the creation by the state of a six-county rather than a four-county planning region. Savago asks that the region be comprised of the counties which now comprise the Mid-Hudson Inter-County Council. They include Ulster, Dutchess, Orange and Putnam Counties plus the two counties which the state excludes—Greene and Columbia.

Savago argues for the six-county plan because the counties "share many physical, economic, social, historic and cultural characteristics" and because "the council has established a pattern of mutual consultation and cooperation."

Other measures up for consideration are the appointment of Duncan Wilson of Woodstock as third deputy fire coordinator, the employment of temporary help in the Ulster County Health Department and the acceptance of the Bert Law Bridge in Saugerties.

Clarence Raichle (R-City) and the tax base committee ask that there be a suspension of additional mortgage tax for a period of two years, and Douglas Dye, majority leader submitted a resolution spelling out training requirements for assessors. Legislator Frank Muller (R-District 10) asks that acceptance be given to the low bid of Berg Sheet Metal Products, Inc., for installation of a raised access floor and air conditioning system for the data processing center.

Three resolutions have been submitted by Legislator Joseph Martorana (R-Ninth District) who seeks the establishment of a special committee on assessments, equalization rates and taxation.

Martorana also hopes to amend the state sanitary code and calls for a study of present and future collection, treatment and disposal of wastes in Ulster County.

Other resolutions call for transfers of funds and approval of attendances at conventions and for various department heads.

The resolution calling for the establishment of the work release program is being sponsored by Legislator Clifford Snyder (R-Saugerties) in behalf of the sheriff's committee of the Ulster County Legislature. The measure calling for establishment of the Landmarks Commission is being submitted by the five Democratic members of the board, Minority Leader Roger Mabie, William F. Edelmuth and Orrie Riehl, both representatives of the city and Saugerties legislators Richard Thornton and Paul Brazier.

The commission would consist of five qualified individuals appointed by the chairman, one of whom shall be a member of the Planning Board. The resolution also asks that a master list of all buildings, structures and sites in Ulster County considered to be of true historical significance be compiled and that the commission submit its recommendations to the legislature regarding what steps should be taken to designate or preserve the historical landmarks in the most feasible manner.

It also asks that the commission work with and cooperate with existing local historical landmark groups and agencies such as the New York State Historical Trust, Ulster County Planning Board, Ulster County Legislature Committee on Publicity.

Red Hook OKs $2 Million Budget

RED HOOK Central School's $2.6 million 1969-70 budget passed with flying colors Wednesday night with 518 yes votes and 261 no votes. Turnout was "about average," according to District Principal Russell J. Keefe. There were 916 signed in and 914 votes cast.

The eight-way race for the lone Board of Education seat was taken handily by Dr. Carl F. Selman, popular Red Hook dentist. He carded 271 votes. Closest competition came from Mrs. Charles Hoffman, who placed second with 194 votes. Donald Moul was third with 118. Other results were G. Carl Park 81, Donald Skelly 77, Ralph Douglas 76, Lewis Priven 41 and Ed Ranchic 28. The budget had 135 void votes, in addition to the 518 yes and 261 no. Another subject voted upon, the renting of additional classroom facilities, received the voters approval with 470 yes and 261 no. A large total of 183 void votes was counted.

The unusually large number of voids was probably "due to misreading the machine," a Board of Education President out into the hallway from the school spokesman said.

Voting progressed slowly up 8 until closing time at 9 p.m., until "about 5 o'clock," said a long line of voters stretched from the school spokesman said. Frances Rabbett. From about high school gymnasium.

The $2,637,508 budget puts an estimated true tax rate of $15.31 per thousand on property in the district, up from $14.26.

Rosendale Moves on Sewer

ROSENDALE be the most progressive village in the county," said the mayor.

A vote is expected by the end of the year on a plan to construct a sewer system for the Village of Rosendale with treatment plants following the signing of a $1,500 contract with the state Pure Waters Authority to reevaluate a system. Mayor William P. Curran said the reevaluation of the possibility of a sewer system follows a comprehensive study of sewer needs for the village and town of Rosendale with state and federal funds. He said the authority will now "update the study and come up with cost figures" that could be presented to the residents at public hearings in August "with all the factors." "It is a question of whether the people want the village to

The contract follows two consultations with PWA representatives in Albany with Curran and Warren Larrabee, a Rosendale resident and professional engineer with IBM.

Calling Larrabee "Rosendale's number one citizen," Curran said he had made recommendations for "modifications" in the study made by the firm of Brinnier and Larios of Kingston.

At present, said the mayor, the village and surrounding area is dumping raw sewage into streams with a levee and dike system that he said has "87 holes in it." Curran said "the system could be the making of Rosendale."

In other action Curran continued to maintain armed police protection at the main door of the meeting room to keep "law and order."

He had begun the meeting by reading from two sections of the state penal code referring to disorderly conduct, obstruction of governmental operations and assault on police officers.

Objection was made by a number of persons at the meeting, including former Mayor Joseph Reid and present Trustee William Ritter that the officer was stationed inside the room.

At the last month's regular meeting, Curran ejected former trustee Joseph LaFera after Curran said he had disrupted the meeting several times. Trustees Ritter and Kenneth Smith turned down a Curran plan to have the town police dispatcher also work for the village at a monthly cost of $15. Curran said the one dispatcher would be able to summon either town or village police when needed, after complaints that village officers were not available when needed.

'Cow College' MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—State Sen. Gordon Roseleip, who once flunked a blindfold test to distinguish butter from oleomargarine, has come to the defense of the cow and the "cow college."

During a budget debate Wednesday, a Senate colleague commented the University of Wisconsin was in danger of becoming a "cow college."

Fill, Zoning Esopus Topics

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

PORT EWEN Report of a proposed new landfill site and arrangements for an informational meeting on the proposed zoning ordinance were the major items of discussion at Wednesday night's Esopus Town Board meeting held in the Town Hall here.

Lt. Cmdr. James Johnson, USN (Ret.) of West Park, chairman of the Landfill Project Committee filled a lengthy report showing charts, slides and photos on the committee's search for a new landfill site for the dumping of the town's refuse. The group was formed last fall and given until July 1 to make a proposal. The report noted that the committee had what they thought was an excellent landfill site in an isolated section in the Plutarch Road area near the New Paltz town line.

The Town Board set June 21 for inspection of the new site with members of the Planning Board and extended the committee's time for a decision on the landfill to Sept. 11.

Planning Board Chairman Chester Dumond Jr., reported that the draft of the proposed town zoning ordinance has been completed by Raymond and May Associates, planning consultants and that the first informational meeting on the ordinance will be held Wednesday, June 18 at 8 p. m. in the town hall.

Supervisor George H. Freer said the Board of Assessors reported that the tentative franchise assessment rate set by the state for the property of Penn Central Railroad in the township had been decreased about $18,000. Jack Reynolds, chairman of the assessors wrote to the State Board of Equalization and Assessments to determine if this is an error and if not asked for a reevaluation on the basis of information the town has on the matter.

The report of Building Inspector DeVal Dunbar indicated he is working on the disposition of two additional "derelict properties," one in St. Remy and another in Rifton. The owners have been notified that they are in violation of the Building Code and must either rehabilitate the properties or order demolition.

The Rev. Daniel Ogden, chairman of Ross Park Commission, reported that bids will be advertised shortly for the $55,000 reconstruction project of the park. The timetable calls for work to start immediately after Labor Day with completion by February.

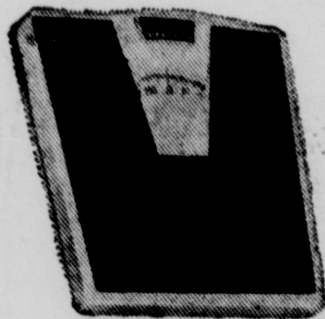

Supervisor Freer reported the state will not assume the installation of a new traffic signal at Route 213 and Maple Avenue. The State Transportation Department noted the deadline for the changeover and replacement of the flashing light is June 20. Attorney for the Town Charles Gaffney was authorized to write to the department for an extension of time. The flashing signal has been used to regulate traffic at this point to permit Rifton fire trucks the right-of-way in a fire emergency.

Administration Lags in Surtax Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration appears to have slipped behind in its race to have Congress extend the 10 per cent income tax surcharge by the June 30 expiration date.

And there remained considerable doubt that the extension would pass at all unless the administration changes its present position and speeds up tax reforms to accompany the extension.

While the administration was stepping up its pressure for the surtax, President Nixon called a bipartisan meeting with House leaders today. Among those invited was House Speaker John W. McCormack who told a news conference Wednesday he favors Nixon's proposal to keep the surtax in effect for another year on a diminishing basis.

But as the House Ways and Means Committee resumed work on surtax legislation, hopes dimmed for a final committee vote today.

There were these developments in the administration campaign for what it called an urgently needed move to head off runaway inflation.

—Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy had an inconclusive session Wednesday with members of the Democratic Study Group—DSG—the organization of moderate and liberal Democrats in the House. DSG veterans said it was the first time a Cabinet member had sought an opportunity to make a plea for legislation directly to the group, which is not a part of the regular Democratic House machinery.

Kennedy told newsmen afterward he thought he had made progress in persuading some members to vote for the surtax without insisting on simultaneous action on tax reforms. But DSG members who talked with reporters said he did not pick up a single vote. —The White House tried to calm a furor as to whether it might recommend wage and price controls if the surtax is not extended.

Kennedy, emphasizing that neither he nor the administration generally favors such controls, mentioned them as an ultimate possibility Tuesday. On Wednesday, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said President Nixon has no plans for such controls and does not contemplate any. Still later he and Kennedy both insisted there was no contradiction—they were both trying to say that wage and price controls were a conceivable last resort against inflation, but that they are not planned. The administration calculates it needs about 10 Democratic votes to pass the surtax in the House.

After his session with the DSG, Kennedy said "I think our program can be voted out of committee and passed in the House . . . I was surprised at some of the sympathetic voices. 'I have no change in our program to recommend . . . ' he added. 'My back is not against the wall.'

But DSG members said Kennedy had been hit by repeated demands that the administration come up quickly with support for a program of tax reforms broad enough to raise revenues, and settle for only a stopgap extension of the surtax until this is done.

Meanwhile, the Treasury made public a joint statement by the six living former secretaries for prompt extension of the surtax. Listed as signers were John W. Snyder, George M. Humphrey, Robert B. Anderson, Douglas Dillon, Henry H. Fowler, and Joseph W. Barr.

Funds of Jurists Due for Airings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Self-policing moves by the U.S. Judicial Conference have failed to halt plans for legislative action to prevent conflicts of interest involving federal judges.

Two Senate Judiciary subcommittees intend to go ahead with hearings, and the Senate Rules Committee is being asked to schedule hearings on a financial disclosure bill.

The request to the Rules Committee was made by Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chief sponsors of a measure to require public reports annually on outside sources of income by all federal officials earning more than $18,000 a year.

The bill would apply to judges, members of Congress, and executive branch officials.

The Judicial Conference, at a meeting here Tuesday, adopted a resolution requiring all federal judges except members of the Supreme Court to file annual statements with the conference listing their income, assets and liabilities.

A spokesman for Case said he did not feel this was adequate since public disclosure is not required. Case has maintained this is vital if it is to be effective.

Case was joined by Hart in sending a letter to Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., chairman of the Rules Committee, urging hearings on their full disclosure bill.

The Judicial Conference, acting after the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas in the midst of controversy over his ties to the Louis E. Wolfson family foundation, also voted a general prohibition against federal judges accepting compensation for outside activities.

Again, this would not apply to Supreme Court justices since the conference took the position it had no jurisdiction over them. of expense money or compensation for services that fellow judges held to be in the public interest.

Despite the fact the conference rules would not apply to the high court, it was announced Wednesday that Justice William Brennan Jr., had made "a personal decision" to give up all activities which do not pertain to his court duties. A spokesman for Brennan said he has canceled all speeches, sold his stock and gave up his interest in a real estate venture. It was learned earlier that Brennan had quit his teaching post at a summer seminar for judges.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of a Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers announced hearings will be held in the next few weeks on what outside activities federal judges may properly perform.

He said in a statement the hearings were not intended to rehash recent controversies surrounding individual justices. This apparently was a reference not only to Fortas but to Justice William O. Douglas, who recently severed his ties with the Albert Parvin Foundation from which he was receiving $12,000 a year.

"We seek to formulate principles which can guide both the public and the federal bench in the future," Ervin said. We are not interested in personalities."

Another Judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., also plans to continue hearings on a judicial reform bill Tydings has introduced. It includes a limited form of financial disclosure and also provides for a commission that could enforce the regulations adopted by the Judicial Conference.

Teachers, Board Reach Agreement in Marlboro

MARLBORO The Board of Education of the Marlboro School District and the Marlboro Faculty Association have amicably reached a contract agreement to become effective beginning July 1, 1969.

The new document calls for an across the board raise of $300 plus fourteen vertical automatic increments of $275 each. The beginning teacher with a B.A. degree now will start at $6800 whereas the beginning teacher with a Master's degree will begin at $7600. For credit hours beyond degrees, the salary will be advanced at a rate of $17.50 per semester hour of approved university study. For career teachers serving more than 15 years in Marlboro, an additional amount of $100 will be added to the salary for a maximum of five years. Also, at the completion of the 25th year, 30th year and 35th year

Bunting vying for the nomination.

Finch, Allen May Clear It

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's top education officials have been summoned to Capitol Hill to clear up what some congressmen say are conflicting statements on a bill dealing with campus unrest.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch and James E. Allen, the commissioner of education, were called into the private meeting today by Republican members of the House Education and Labor Committee in order to outline their views on the legislation.

The GOP members are supporting a bill that would require colleges to file plans for dealing with campus disturbances with the government or face a cutoff of all federal education funds.

Another provision of the bill would broaden an existing law cutting off aid to students involved in serious uprisings by including students receiving veterans education benefits and social security payments.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., chief sponsor of the bill, told the committee that Finch informed her he would not oppose the bill, although in an earlier appearance before her subcommittee he had said no new federal laws were needed to deal with student unrest.

But Rep. Ogden L. Reid, R-N.Y., the only GOP member of the committee against the bill, said Finch had expressed strong opposition in several private conversations with him.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., said after talking to Finch he was unsure where the secretary stood. "That's what we want to find out," he said.

Allen has been quoted in newspaper reports as saying the bill would be impossible to administer and would amount to federal intrusion in the internal affairs of a university.

Russia Reinforces China Line Defenses

LONDON (UPI)—The Kremlin has sent massive reinforcement to strengthen defenses along key points of the Soviet Union's 4,000-mile frontier with Communist China, diplomatic reports said today.

Despite the growing tension, the two Communist giants were not expected to move toward a major armed confrontation, at least not for some time to come. However, diplomatic sources said latest indications suggested increased tension in months to come, with occasional local clashes of varying intensity.

They predicted a prolonged period of "mutual harassment" which both Moscow and Peking would thoroughly exploit in an intense propaganda battle.

But Communist China is in no position yet to risk war and cannot be expected to reach that stage for years, the sources said.

The Soviet Union, in turn, is unlikely to unleash preventive war against China, even though its chances of success are now better than in five or 10 years hence when Peking's nuclear capabilities would be much higher.

The informants said any preventive Soviet war would have to rely, sooner or later, on the use of strategic nuclear weapons to avert getting bogged down in a Vietnam type war against unlimited Chinese manpower.

Moscow has strongly reinforced Mongolia and nuclear installations along the Soviet border with the Chinese Province of Sinkiang where rockets have been placed facing China. New reinforcements on the border with Sinkiang were understood to have been recently discussed by visiting Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Biased Clubs Banned

The Supreme Court decision that privately operated public accommodations cannot practice racial segregation by calling themselves clubs and admitting only whites on payment of a nominal fee puts hundreds of recreation areas and other facilities under the ban. The 7 to 1 vote, with only Justice Hugo L. Black dissenting, continues the court's sweeping decisions to eliminate bias wherever possible.

The decision did not extend to the last of the all-white bastions: exclusive social and country clubs which are definitely private, attested by self-government and members-ownership traditionally associated with private clubs. A few of these institutions have been denounced by members in politics, who have resigned with public condemnations of the clubs they had been members of for years without protest, especially in Washington. But the law has let them alone.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr., writing for the court, said the club in question, operated outside Little Rock, was a business operated for profit, barred by the 1964 Civil Rights Act prohibiting racial and religious discrimination at places of public accommodation whose business operations are in interstate commerce.

Youth Draft Advisers

There will be youth draft advisers from each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, New York City, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone and Guam. President Nixon, impressed by his conference with the 10 youths named by the selective service regional directors, called for expanding the concept to cover the entire country and its territories.

On the same day that the U.S. Court of Appeals overruled Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's ruling that draft boards reclassify registrants because of anti-war or anti-draft activities, it became known that the 73-year-old draft chief had recommended the youth panels to the President to give the draft-age class a say in how the draft works. Mr. Nixon accepted the idea and acted on it.

There will be a committee of youth advisers in each of the states. They should at least be a bridge between the draft boards and the draftees until a fair workout is given Mr. Nixon's proposal for a professional Army and draft lottery to be used until the draft is ended.

Mom --- Jury's Firm Hand

Poor mom gets blamed for everything including the breakdown of respect for authority among the young. She's too smotheringly protective, you see.

Strangely, though, moms are no soft touch when they sit on juries, according to Jury Verdict Research, Inc., which is making a continuing study of jury behavior.

Minors do not have much chance at all with housewives and other types on the jury, the organization reports. On the other hand, skilled tradesmen fare best with them, receiving more favorable votes and also far higher awards than any other classification of plaintiff.

Over-all, however, housewives tend to be more skeptical of any plaintiff's claims and less generous in awards than male jurors.

A summer project of the Students for Democratic Action, a "work-in" designed to upset factories, has already met with firm opposition. Workers are prepared to resist being pushed around. Factory managers are not expected to be as chicken as some college presidents. Summer disorder should be nipped before it starts.

'Tired-Faced' Bob Wagner Tops New York Mayoralty...Hopefuls

NEW YORK (NEA) — In New York, where today the blacks, the students, the teachers and the "law-and-order" folk are all impatient, the experts are trying to explain why patient Robert Wagner, former mayor, is favored to be the 1969 Democratic nominee for that job.

A one-time Conservative party seeker, Kieran O'Doherty, says Mayor John Lindsay "made Wagner possible," suggesting city voters would hardly consider the three-time mayor but for their disenchantment with the handsome incumbent.

Paul Screvane, himself a candidate in 1965 and presently Wagner's campaign manager, has some other ideas. Says he:

"New York is becoming a cold city. Some people are thirsting for a little warmth and humanity, and Bob Wagner represents this for them."

Screvane says Lindsay's handling of labor difficulties, like the teachers' strike and the garbage strike, is one of his worst handicaps and conjectures that Wagner's cool deliberateness in a crisis is, paradoxically, just what the impatient people want. He adds:

"I don't know anyone who has the patience to hear people out and get them pulling together that Bob Wagner has."

Certainly Wagner these days looks constantly as if he had just emerged from an all-night labor bargaining session. He has to be the prototype of the "tired-face" in politics. Yet his manager thinks this can be an advantage, that women voters spotting him on the street like to mother him with comforts like "Don't kill yourself, Bob."

The more likely thing, of course, is that in 1969 Wagner simply seems to many voters the best of a weak lot.

The only other Democrat in the race with any kind of hold on the electorate is little Mario Procaccino, city controller, who runs a "law-and-order" campaign with a steady appeal to many fellow Italians and some Irish. His message is not exactly sweeping in scope, and one Democrat sums it up by saying Procaccino is "good at quick stops" on the campaign trail.

Writer Jimmy Breslin, running for city council president on a badly lagging ticket with writer Norman Mailer for mayor, says the main reason Procaccino is running is:

"He wants a car. He's too short to hail a cab."

Actually, it is New York's deep concern over crime, disruption and strikes that makes "The Prok" a plausible candidate. Some top Democrats say, indeed, that Wagner jumped in because he feared Procaccino's hard-line appeal would polarize the voters as happened in the Yorty-Bradley mayoralty race in Los Angeles.

The newest Oliver Quayle poll done for Wagner is said to show him holding at least a 10-point edge over Procaccino, who evidently has not advanced materially since an earlier check.

Wagner's grip is strong with blacks and with labor, who are mounting a good drive in the final days. He also has a long lead among Jewish voters. Numbered with these are many teachers irked at Lindsay's handling of the school disputes last fall.

Anti-Wagner types have counted on Mailer and two other candidates, Puerto Rican leader Herman Badillo and Rep. James Scheuer, to bite into the former mayor's support enough to pull him down.

Badillo, endorsed by the New York Times, has moved up a bit from the 10 per cent he got in the first Quayle poll. Some experts say forces friendly to Lindsay are pushing Badillo to hurt Wagner.

The combination of lesser bidders seems insufficient, however, to the task of dragging Wagner down far enough. Scheuer, who has spent a fistful of money since his early entry, is reported to have dropped behind a slightly advancing Mailer. Perhaps Wagner can only beat himself by some last-minute gaffe.

The whole thing is so unreal, from the rumpled face of Wagner to the profane gyrations of Mailer, that it is nearly unbelievable when one Democrat laughingly suggests Mailer and Breslin may pay off their campaign debts with a fist fight in Madison Square Garden.

Steingut Likely to Succeed Kennedy as N.Y. Demo Leader

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A year after Robert F. Kennedy's death, one of his closest political associates is making a strong bid to take Kennedy's place as the leading power of the New York Democratic party.

Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut is not what might be called the Kennedy type, either in background, appearance or personality. The hefty, balding Brooklyn lawyer, 49, is a clubhouse political professional, with no discernible traces of the Kennedy "magic."

But he is possessed by determination to fill the leadership vacuum left by Kennedy's passing. And, unless a serious challenger materializes, he appears likely to succeed.

Coming off an aggressive performance in his first session as a leader of the legislature, Steingut embarked this week on a series of speaking tours designed to give him statewide exposure.

He persuaded State Chairman John J. Burns to join him on a "truth squad" swing through Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, to point up the legislative record of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his allies in the Republican-ruled legislature.

Steingut focused his fire on cutbacks in state aid for education, maintaining the inevitable result will be higher local property taxes. He also accused Rockefeller of covertly building a budget surplus to use next year when the governor will be up for reelection.

Similar tours of other population centers are scheduled during the summer. In the meantime, Steingut is accepting all sorts of invitations to speak at party dinners and other functions across the state.

His purpose is to make his name and face known to as many New Yorkers as possible and strengthen his credentials as the only Democratic leader with the stature and drive to fill the leadership void.

At the moment, his field is relatively clear.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the only Democrat holding elective statewide office, shows little inclination to assert himself as the party's leader, nor is there an indication he would attract a large following if he tried.

The same is true of Steingut's counterpart in the Senate, Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki, who at the age of 69 is a benevolent non-competing for power.

Burns, friendly to Steingut, sees himself strictly as steward of the party's administrative machinery.

The situation could change, however, if Democrats succeed in electing a mayor in New York City this year. A Democratic mayor of New York usually can command the leadership, as Robert F. Wagner did before he retired in 1965.

Even so, Steingut is protecting his bets. He is backing the comeback effort of Wagner, who once sought Steingut's ouster as Democratic leader of Brooklyn and who blocked his attempt to become Assembly speaker four years ago.

In a very real sense, Steingut was born into politics—the son of the late Irwin Steingut, who for many years was Assembly minority leader and served for one term as speaker. Young Steingut grew up in the Democratic clubhouses of Brooklyn and played in his father's office at the Capitol.

Having ascended to the Brooklyn leadership himself, he was one of a small group of party influentials who persuaded Kennedy to move into the state in 1964 to run for the U.S. Senate. It was the beginning of a warm working partnership.

Now Steingut seeks to convert to his own leadership the alliances that were formed while Kennedy gradually displaced Wagner as the ruling force of the New York Democratic party.

Steingut's most cherished objective is to follow his father's footsteps into the speaker's chair. He wants to make sure that, if and when the opportunity arises again, there will not be an unfriendly fight at the party helm to frustrate him.

If that means he has to seize the leadership himself, that's just what he intends to do.

Drew Pearson Says Russia May Try to Eliminate The Chinese Nuclear Threat

Martin Luther King's Tapped Wires

On May 24, 1968, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported categorically that the FBI had been tapping Dr. Martin Luther King's telephone wires, and gave considerable detail on why, together with some of the conversations the FBI had overheard. There was considerable public reaction, and some of it critical. On June 4, the U. S. District Court in Houston made public, official summaries of four top secret FBI wire-tap conversations between Dr. King and Cassius Clay, together with an official admission by the Justice Department that the FBI had eavesdropped on King.

DREW PEARSON SAYS: RUSSIA MAY DECIDE TO ELIMINATE CHINESE NUCLEAR THREAT: SOVIET-CHINESE BORDER CLASHES INCREASE; RUSSIANS MAY BE PLANNING WAR AGAINST COMMUNIST RIVAL.

WASHINGTON — The possibility of war between the two great giants of communism — Soviet Russia and Red China — has been raised in a top secret U. S. Intelligence report.

The report, purely speculative but nevertheless reinforced with certain facts, suggests that Moscow may stage hit-and-run strikes at China's nuclear laboratories and armament centers in order to eliminate China as a nuclear threat.

This is what Gen. Curtis LeMay proposed when he was Chief of Staff of the Air Force. It would be paradoxical indeed if a communist nation decided what leading U. S. military man once proposed and was turned down by his superiors. However, here are the facts on which the top-secret report bases its speculation:

1. The Russians have raised such a clamor about Chinese border harassment that counterattacks could be portrayed to the world as strictly defensive.

2. The Chinese have so alienated world opinion that they would receive little world sympathy. There would even be applause in the United States.

3. Red army leaders have argued that Russia would never split its strength between the European border on the West and the Chinese border on the East. Today the Chinese have made this necessary.

The Red army has now assembled a formidable array of strength along the Chinese border, hitherto not much better fortified than that between Canada and the United States.

This writer has traveled along the border between Siberia and China in the Ussuri and Sugari River regions where recent skirmishing has been taking place. It is a vast, relatively unpopulated area somewhat like the Dakotas and you can travel for miles without seeing a house or a single living thing.

Hilarious Skirmishes
Why two countries should risk war over such a desolate region is hard to understand. Nevertheless, there have been repeated clashes along the 4,500-mile border, though most of them have been propaganda broadsides by loudspeaker, and organized demonstrations of contempt.

Some have even been quite hilarious. Chinese soldiers, for instance, would advance across the ice toward the disputed island in the middle of the Ussuri river, then halt abruptly and stick their tongues out, en masse, at the Soviet border troops. Sometimes they would also drop their trousers and turn their bare bottoms toward the Russians, a Chinese gesture of contempt. The Soviets countered by hastily throwing up portraits of Mao Tse-tung to receive the full impact of the bottoms-up demonstration.

On other occasions, the Chinese presented a more grizzly spectacle on the river ice for the benefit of the watching Russians. Prisoners would be herded out onto the river and would be accused over the loudspeakers of being Soviet sympathizers. They were then beheaded on the spot in full view of Soviet troops.

One Soviet trick, particularly along the Sinkiang border which runs through wasteland, has been to remove the border markers in the middle of the night and plant them deeper inside China. There have also been clashes between border patrols, and serious fighting has been reported upon occasion. The Russians have also given refuge to nomadic Turkistan tribesmen who heard their flocks on both sides of the Sinkiang border, and have encouraged them to foment trouble on the Chinese side.

Militarily, the Chinese would appear to be no match for the Russians, who not only have lined up missiles aimed across the frontier at China but have constructed 183 airfields within easy reach of the border. The Chinese have only a few primitive missiles which they are testing in Sinkiang. Only one or two Chinese airfields are close enough to the border to be of much use.

Powerful Troop Strength

The Chinese have an estimated 550,000 troops along the border and can be expected to muster more. This includes a couple of crack divisions. The Russians have only around 400,000 men manning the border, but they are reported to be superior units.

The Soviets, of course, have superior firepower and, perhaps even more important, far better communications and transportation links. The Chinese would have great difficulty supporting their troops in any major engagement over the disputed island in the Ussuri river. The Russians, in contrast, have turned nearby Khabarovsk into a garrison city. When I was there, many years ago, it was a primitive town of log houses. Troops are easily supplied over the trans-Siberian railway and a highway, not to mention a handy airfield.

There is absolutely no neutral, objective account of the incidents that stirred up the recent Chinese-Russian flap. It was the Russians, however, who trumpeted the affair into an international incident. They gave it a full propaganda blast around the world, unlike their discreet handling of earlier incidents. Most unprecedented of all, however, the Kremlin went to great diplomatic pains to give its version of the trouble to other governments. Soviet ambassadors approached most of the Western governments form Washington to Bonn to Tokyo with detailed explanations of the incidents.

In some cases, these were coupled with subtle warnings that the West couldn't maintain warm relations with both Russia and China at the same time. It is known, for example, that West Germany, France, Canada, Italy and Japan were gently but firmly warned against establishing economic ties with Peking. All these nations have made overtures in recent months toward communist China.

Ambassador Dobrynin even hinted strongly to the State Department that Soviet-American negotiations to ease tensions around the world would be impaired if the U.S. sought a reconciliation with China.

The analysis generally accepted by our government is that the Kremlin became alarmed over what might have appeared to be a deliberate Western campaign to improve relations with China. Probably this appeared to Soviets as an attempt to exploit Chinese-Russian hostility and to form a common front against the Soviet Union.

Teaching Eskimo Kids Is Called Study in Frustration

By TOM TIEDE

(NEA Staff Correspondent)
PILOT STATION, Alaska—(NEA)—As Frank and Janine Gammicchia tell it, they've been disappointed with their job almost from the day they started it.

They are the teaching agents at the Bureau of Indian Affairs school in this western Alaskan village. They have been here only 10 months—but it seems much longer than that.

They came last August by bush plane. They were not long out of college, fresh out of the state of California, and, as they remember, they felt they had made a mistake even as their transportation dropped them off.

"I looked around," says Frank Gammicchia, "and felt almost sick. No trees, no streets. Only grime. I don't know who felt worse, my wife, or I. But I know I'll never forget that first day here."

Actually, Gammicchia will probably never forget any of the days he has spent as a BIA agent in Pilot Station. He says, somberly, that they've all been filled with hopelessness, frustration and futility.

Having ascended to the Brooklyn leadership himself, he was one of a small group of party influentials who persuaded Kennedy to move into the state in 1964 to run for the U.S. Senate. It was the beginning of a warm working partnership.

Now Steingut seeks to convert to his own leadership the alliances that were formed while Kennedy gradually displaced Wagner as the ruling force of the New York Democratic party.

Steingut's most cherished objective is to follow his father's footsteps into the speaker's chair. He wants to make sure that, if and when the opportunity arises again, there will not be an unfriendly fight at the party helm to frustrate him.

If that means he has to seize the leadership himself, that's just what he intends to do.

The village, he says, was probably the first disillusionment. He expected poverty and disorder, but nothing like this: homes little more than huts, paths mired with human waste, dead dogs lining the river bank and piles of garbage supporting the side of every structure in sight.

Also, says Gammicchia, the people were largely a let-down. While some were friendly, the majority were not. He found quickly that many villagers drank to excess, abused their children and didn't care for either him or his Indian Affairs schoolhouse.

Finally, Gammicchia says, the schoolhouse itself was perhaps the biggest disappointment of all. He found it comfortable enough, even palatial in the midst of the surrounding poverty, but he also found it sadly lacking in what he calls its responsibilities and obligations.

For one thing, he discovered the school equipped like schools in California, which according to him "is ridiculous in this part of Alaska." In other words, the books, the lessons, even the instructional utensils, were foreign and "totally irrelevant" to the students being taught.

Gammicchia learned very early that there were only a handful of books that were related to Eskimo life. The rest were tied to a modern, urbanized society which, in Pilot Station, is like another world.

As the months went on Gammicchia realized, "Most of my students weren't responding. And how could they? I was teaching them about television and doorbells—and, good God, no kid here has seen a TV set and there isn't a home in the village that has a doorbell."

To some extent, Gammicchia tried to alter his instruction to suit what he considered the time and place. He shaved a bit off the American history classes to make way for some Eskimo history. He cheated a little in New Math to pass on some common sense concerning local economy.

But still, he found, it was too little, too late. "My students," he says, "have been long conditioned to just go through the motions in BIA schools. There are only two reasons they come at all. One, the law makes them, and two, we serve a free lunch every day."

Reject Proposal Churches Pay Negroes $500 Million

PRINCETON, N.J., June 11 — The proposal of a Negro organization that American churches and synagogues pay Negroes $500-million for "past injustices" meet with little support among the public at this time.

An overwhelming majority of persons in all leading Protestant denominations, as well as Catholics and Jews, vote down the proposal. Little difference is found between churchgoers and non-churchgoers.

Among Negroes interviewed, about one person in every five backs the demands put forward by James Forman, a 40-year-old spokesman for the National Black Economic Development Conference, who last month interrupted services at Manhattan's Riverside Church to insist on financial "reparations" for Negroes.

Reactions of Ministers

On May 15, Mr. Forman presented a list of demands to the United Presbyterian annual meeting. The leadership of the Presbyterian Church, while not responding directly to Mr. Forman's demands, has nevertheless authorized the planning of a $50-million dollar fund raising campaign for the poor.

But one minister of this church, from a small town in New Jersey, opposes what he fears may be "overreaction" on the part of his leadership. "Negroes have a right to feel aggrieved," he commented, "but if the Church accedes to demands such as Mr. Forman's, then other Negroes will try the same route. This will only add to an atmosphere of violence."

Mood of Outrage

An elderly Negro, active in his local Baptist church, said: "I think what Mr. Forman did is the most foolish thing he could have done. The churches have helped us, not hurt us. That man's going to throw away everything we've gained."

A young white housewife remarked, "I don't go along with these demands at all. Everyone suffers injustices, but this doesn't give us the right to get remuneration for them."

A young Negro who was vociferous about race relations spoke this way, "We've got to pay our own way. You just can't sit down and have things given to you on a silver platter."

But a neighbor felt this way, "We may have made some gains in the last few years, but it's been a long time coming. I want my kids to have a better chance than I had, so why shouldn't we get some help from the churches?"

Following is the question asked in a survey of 1515 adults of both races between May 23 and 27:

A Negro organization is asking American churches and synagogues to pay 500 million dollars to Negroes because of past injustices. How do you feel about this — would you favor or oppose this being done?

Panthers Have Brief Hearings On Bomb Plot

NEW YORK (AP) — A Black Panther raised a clenched fist as he was taken from the courtroom and shouted: "All power to the people." About 100 people in the courtroom and 100 more in the hall outside yelled the same slogan in response.

Fourteen members of the Panthers had a brief court hearing Wednesday on charges against them in the alleged plot to bomb department stores and other places in the city.

About 400 sympathizers gathered outside the Criminal Courts building in Manhattan, carrying signs that read, "Free all political prisoners" and chanting "All power to the people." The crowds, in and outside the building, were orderly.

A heavy police detail guarded the courtroom and each person entering was searched.

Supreme Court Justice John M. Murphy set Friday for arguments on defense motions made by lawyer William Kanstler, the civil rights and civil liberties crusader. One motion calls for dismissal of the charges because of premature publicity.

Twenty-one Panthers were indicted in April on bomb plot conspiracy charges.

Five are at large and two await extradition in New Jersey.

Japan Expects Million Foreigners for Expo '70

It isn't too early to consult with a travel agent about plans to visit Expo '70, Japan's attraction for next year.

Osaka, the city where it is being held, is not getting itself into any room-booking snare, thus profiting from what happened in Montreal for Expo '67. There will be a Lodging Information Center but it won't make reservations — with one glorious exception.

A million visitors from abroad are looked for. About 10,000 western-style hotel rooms are expected to be available.

For the boldly adventurous, the lodging center will book visitors into 500 rooms in private residences — catch as catch can. The center only guarantees that some English is spoken by at least one person in the family. Price, $7 per person, breakfast included.

Exposition lights will be on six months, March 15 through Sept. 13. Osaka is in a metropolitan area, so that rooms in Kyoto, Kobe, Otsu and Nagoya are within easy commuting distance of the fair grounds.

Reminder: You need a visa to travel in Japan.

"Man and His World," an international exhibition continuing on the site of Canada's Expo '67, has opened another season. Located as it is on the St. Lawrence River, it has become a favored vacation destination for boaters, including Power Squadron cruises. Its 25-acre marina basin has been improved even more this season.

Those who have been coming up with the $3.75 toll for crossing the suspension bridge over the Straits of Mackinac are getting a break. Autos now cost $1.50. Fare for one-axle trailers is $2.50 instead of $6.25.

A private railroad car sold at auction recently, believed to be the presidential campaign car, has started an argument. Present owners of another car, the "Ferdinand Magellan," seem to have authenticated their Pullman instead, as the historic Car of Presidents. It was rebuilt in 1942 as an armor-plated traveling home for chief executives and used by Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower.

The "Magellan" can be seen on display at the Gold Coast Railroad Station and Museum, 811 S.W. 34th St., Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. 33315.

The 12th annual International Frisbee Championships are being held July 5 and 6 in Eagle Harbor, Mich.

Save Sept. 4-6 for the International Banana Festival. Do they raise bananas in the twin twin cities of Fulton, Ky., and South Fulton, Tenn.? It is more complicated than that. The festival is a relic of days when most banana imports, handled on the Mississippi, were warehoused in this area, then redistributed. It was such fun the party still continues.

Two Killed, Six Injured In Apartment Complex Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—some 500 residents had to be evacuated and at least six were hospitalized with serious injuries. The blaze was brought under control within two hours but flames swept through a modern, high-rise apartment complex named for humorist James Thurber early today. One person died. The fire broke out shortly after midnight and by 2 a.m. EDT, residents living outside middle of the 10-story building, the immediate fire area were allowed to return to their apartments. The brick building, built at a cost of $3 million less than five years ago, contains 224 units and is only about a half-mile northwest of the Ohio State penitentiary in this capital city.

FPC Probes Group After Ottinger Charge

WASHINGTON (D.N.Y.)—Congressman Richard L. Ottinger (D-N.Y.) revealed today that the Federal Power Commission, acting on his charge that the Power Authority of the State of New York (PASNY) has violated both federal and New York State law, has initiated an investigation of the authority. He said the FPC has docked a formal complaint against PASNY and required that the authority reply to the charges within 15 days. The formal complaint was entered on May 27.

Congressman Ottinger charged that PASNY's violation of federal and State laws has permitted private utilities in New York, and principally Niagara-Mohawk Power Corporation, to "siphon off the lion's share of the benefits of public power." He said that as a result losses to New York ratepayers have been estimated by power experts to run as high as "literally hundreds of millions of dollars."

The Congressman also noted that while federal law requires the Power Authority to sell at least 50 per cent of its power to municipal users and non-profit cooperatives, PASNY has never made more than 11 per cent of its power available to these customers. Currently he said, PASNY sells 70 per cent of its power to private utilities for resale and has reportedly refused to supply power to qualified customers as required by Power Authority Act and has entered into a "sweetheart" contract with Niagara-Mohawk which allows the private utility to skim off more than 50 per cent of the benefits of public power.

Glasco-BH Votes June 23 On Two New Fire Trucks

GLASCO Fire Commissioners have set Monday, June 23 at 6 p.m. for a district meeting in Glasco Firehouse and balloting on a $50,000 proposal for the purchase of two new pieces of fire apparatus.

All qualified voters of Glasco vote on the proposition to be conducted with paper ballots. The polls will be kept open from 6 to 10 p.m.

The proposition if approved would authorize the fire commissioners to purchase two pieces of fire apparatus at a cost not to exceed $50,000 and the cost will be defrayed by payment from the general district fund a sum of $15,000, a capital note totaling $5,000 and the balance of $30,000 by issuing local serial bonds. The bonds are to be retired in five years at the rate of $6,000 per year.

Glasco Fire Commissioners are considering the purchase of a 1,000-gallon capacity pumper truck with a 1,000-gallon-per-minute pump and a 1,000-gallon tank truck with a pump capacity of 200-gallons per minute. Both pieces of apparatus will be equipped with the items required for immediate operation on arrival.

The current pumper truck which is reported to be about 14 years old will be retained by the volunteers as a brush truck and auxiliary unit. The fire company is currently considering the construction of an addition to its present fire station to accommodate the new vehicles.

Coverings Taboo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Plastic or glass coverings must be removed from vehicle license plates by Sept. 1, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany warned Tuesday.

The commissioner noted that a new law bans such coverings which, he said, tend to reflect sunlight and headlights and produce a glare that obscures the plates.

Paltz Board Tables Request By Shopping Center Developer

NEW PALTZ — A request by the developer of New Paltz Grand Union Shopping Center, to install a septic system on the proposed site was tabled at the regular meeting of the New Paltz Town Board, here, Wednesday night.

The developer, DRH Enterprises, requested that the Town Board approve the installation of the septic system, which they indicated would satisfy the sanitation requirements specified by the Ulster County Board of Health.

According to the developer, the Board of Health approved the construction of the shopping center, after receiving an assurance from them that the system would be installed and that certain types of businesses, such as laundromats, would not be included in the center, until adequate sewage facilities were provided.

The motion to table the request was made when the board agreed that it did not constitute an adequate explanation, and that the matter should be delayed pending verification from the Board of Health and approval by the Town Planning Board.

As a result of this move, construction of the center, which will be developed south of Route 299 and almost directly opposite the Simmons Plaza Shopping Center, will be somewhat delayed.

In other action at the Wednesday night meeting, which lasted less than an hour, two requests regarding extension of the town's water service were

A request to establish a new town water district on South Putt Corner Road will be discussed at a public hearing on June 23 and a request to extend the town's existing water district to the end of Old Mill also delayed, pending public hearings.

Road will be discussed on July 16. Both hearings will commence at 7:30 p.m.

The board also voted to reschedule its regular meeting in July from the 9th to the 16th of the month because most of board members had conflicting engagements at the earlier

JACK REYNOLDS

Albany to Newburgh Board: Implement the 1968 Plan

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Newburgh Board of Education has been urged to implement a plan to end racial imbalance in the city's schools that was ordered drawn up in 1968 by former education commissioner James E. Allen Jr.

Ewald B. Nyquist, acting education commissioner, approved the proposal Wednesday and released his comments today.

Nyquist said he could not order the plan put into effect because a new state law prohibits him from directing the reassignment of pupils after Sept. 1 to correct racial imbalances.

Instead he said, The Newburgh Board of Education is free not only to implement the plan but also to make such modifications, as may be necessary to ensure full equality of educational opportunity for all children who attend its schools.

I urge the members, both present and future, to do everything within their power to discharge these obligations," he said.

The plan calls for the shifting of large segments of non-white pupils from "core" area schools to schools outside the city but still within district lines.

Nyquist said the plan was deficient in three areas but that its greatest failure was that the school board did not involve the community more in drawing it up.

An opportunity should be provided for public participation in future planning," he said.

The other inadequacies, Nyquist said, were that nearly all the pupils to be reassigned are non-white and that one school, the Montgomery Street School, still will have a 99 per cent non-white population and will serve kindergarten and retarded pupils only.

Taylor Eulogized By Gov. Reagan

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I want to say farewell to a friend named Bob," said Gov. Ronald Reagan. Then, with tears in his eyes, he eulogized actor Robert Taylor as "a star among stars."

"He was one of the true and most enduring stars in the golden age of Hollywood," Reagan told about 400 mourners at the Church of the Reconciliation

Forest Lawn Memorial Park Wednesday.

Taylor, 57, died Sunday of lung cancer.

Reagan, a Hollywood actor when Taylor was at the height of stardom, recalled that crowds gathered wherever Taylor went. He compared the public adulation to that accorded silent screen star Rudolph Valentino.

Fish Seeking Opinions in 28th

KINGSTON Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. needs, and is seeking the opinion of every adult in the 28th Congressional District, and is setting out to get it through a questionnaire being mailed today.

The 20-question questionnaire, which is being sent to every home in the five county district, and which was printed at Fish's personal expense, is asking the voters their opinions on such issues as: Vietnam, ABM, smut mail, social security and tax reform.

The questionnaire is set up to allow space for both husband and wife to answer the questions. "It has been my experience that husband and wife do not always have the same opinion on all issues, so a "his" and "hers" column is provided for each question. There is also a space where opinions not covered in the poll can be written," Congressman Fish explained.

"I have attempted to avoid questions on issues that will not be up for consideration, and which over simplify problems. Because of this, most of the questions are designed to allow shading of opinion rather than the hard and fast yes or no," Congressman Fish explained, adding that the answers to the questions will provide him with the basis for his voting.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market had an easier tone at the opening on the New York Stock Exchange today. Turnover was moderate.

The market seemed ripe for bargain hunting in view of its losses in recent sessions. Still, the tight money situation—the major market influence—prevails, and may offset any buying that should appear. All in all, traders and investors were expected to remain on the defensive for the near term until some constructive news is at hand.

Shortly after the opening the UPI stock market indicator showed a loss of 0.26 per cent on 393 issues traded. Declines outpaced advances, 171 to 106. The Dow Jones industrial average was off slightly.

Steels were lower. Autos showed little change. Oils were mixed. Chemicals moved to the upside.

U.S. Steel gave up 1/4 to 44 1/2 while Bethlehem surrendered 1/4 to 34 1/2. Inland also was in the minus column at 34 1/2, down 1/2 from Wednesday's closing price.

In the autos Chrysler turned down 1/4 to 47 1/2. Ford was unchanged at 48. General Motors opened at 79 1/2—off 1/2 from Wednesday.

Quotations by Loeb, Rhoades & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, Kingston Branch, Kingston Plaza, Kingston, N. Y., Frank D. Hoornbeek, manager.

Bunting's Views On City Renewal

KINGSTON Clifford V. Bunting, a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of Kingston, today offered his views on the urban renewal situation in Kingston.

Bunting said, in part: As conceived, urban renewal met the best tradition of true democracy. The federal and state governments would shoulder the large cost portion beyond that which city taxpayers could not afford. The resulting benefits were designed to benefit, eventually, all of the people of the state and the nation. As it has been recently managed, it falls somewhat short of minimum expectations.

"Political pressures, misinformation and an inability to grasp the basic philosophies of urban renewal have all played a role. Today, downtown is an arid wasteland. The urban renewal area has contracted sharply businesswise and deterioration is unchecked even to a minor degree.

"Most alarming, however, is the fact that the whole urban renewal project could be terminated in mid-stride because the permitted completion time has almost expired.

Meanwhile, taxes in the city have been somewhat reduced and the budget precariously balanced only by the expediency of substituting another tax, a city sales tax, for the land taxes. However, the same people are paying both taxes but under two different names. Not everyone is satisfied that this is a proper solution.

"I pledge to devote my full energies and attention to bear on these problems, bringing to bear the experience of a successful business career in Kingston and the knowledge of what Kingstonians want and have a right to expect, as gleaned from a lifelong residence in this immediate area," Bunting said.

Military Honor For Freshman At Bard College

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON A Bard College freshman recently received the state's highest military honor, the Conspicuous Service Cross, in a Philmont ceremony.

Velmon D. Phillips of Hudson participated, during more than two years in Vietnam, in long range combat, reconnaissance patrols requiring a high degree of military professionalism.

Some times living behind enemy lines for extended periods, the men worked in small patrols without aid or cover from their own troops. Phillips, who had also received the Bronze Star and other awards, was discharged in 1968 after serving more than three and one half years with the army.

At Bard this year he is majoring in art, and has also organized the Dave Phillips Quartet, an accomplished group which has played frequently on the campus. Phillips is a drummer, who has studied at the Berklee School of Music in Boston and with Elvin Jones in New York.

Rocky Gives Pep Talk To Aid Lindsay

NEW YORK (UPI) — Governor Rockefeller previously had said that while he endorsed Lindsay for the nomination over his only primary opponent, State Sen. John J. Marchi of Staten Island, he would not play an active part in the campaign.

However, Rockefeller called 100 district leaders and other party faithfuls from Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens to a meeting in the Hilton Hotel at which he urged them to get out in the six days remaining before the primary and work all-out for Lindsay's nomination.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits and State Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz also addressed the leaders from the three counties which are supporting Lindsay. The Bronx and Staten Island are supporting Marchi and their leaders did not attend the meeting.

Rockefeller said he had asked the district leaders to meet with him on a personal basis "because of his desire to make sure they would do all they could to see that Lindsay wins."

The governor was making his pitch for Lindsay at about the same time Senate Republican Leader Earl Brydges of Niagara Falls was issuing a statement in his Manhattan office supporting Marchi in strong language. His statement took exception to things Lindsay had said about his opponent.

Earlier, Sen. Eugene McCarthy offered lukewarm support to Rep. James H. Scheuer, D-Bronx, in his race for the Democratic mayoral nomination.

Disarmament Position To Get Final Review

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials said today President Nixon and the National Security Council next week are expected to make their final review of the U.S. position for disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

The officials said that as soon as the National Security Council examines the American negotiating position, which has been in preparation since the administration took office in January, Secretary of State William P. Rogers would summon Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin to discuss date and place for formal negotiations.

Simultaneously, the officials said the United States would consult its NATO allies about the negotiations.

Details about the National Security Council meeting constituted the latest indication the United States was on the verge of initiating the Soviet-American talks.

Soviet representatives in Washington, who have been awaiting word from the State Department, have begun questioning the sincerity of the United States in seeking talks because of the long delay in making arrangements.

Only Tuesday, the Communist party newspaper Pravda published in Moscow a dispatch by its Washington correspondent deploring the American "Safe-guard" antiballistic missile system (ABM) and testing by U.S. military experts of multiple warheads, which are called MIRV.

U.S. officials also are interested in when the Soviet Union will ratify the international treaty to stop spread of nuclear weapons. The U.S. Senate approved the treaty earlier this year.

Soviet sources here indicated the Kremlin was not likely to ratify the nonproliferation treaty until West Germany approves it. Since the Bonn government probably will not tackle the treaty until after its elections this fall, the prospect of Soviet ratification appeared months away.

ALBANY The area includes Harpersfield, Kortright, Stamford, Otsego, Schoharie, Sullivan, Ulster, and Warren counties. The committee is recruiting for five apprentices, that portion of the State Labor Department said today.

Assistant Industrial Commissioner Edward J. Ray, in charge of the Department's operations in the Albany district, said that the Kingston Electrical Joint Apprenticeship and Training Committee, 20 Village Drive, Kings Village, Saugerties, 12477, will accept applications until July 15.

Applications must be obtained in person from Robert Marletown, Ulster, Hurley, Metscher, business manager, Local Union No. 645, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, 131 North Front Street, Kingston, 12401. ### Revenue To Give State 'Millions'

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —The State of New York expects to receive "millions" of dollars in new revenue under new state laws governing abandoned property, including uncashed money orders and traveler's checks.

The new legislation, enacted by Governor Rockefeller and the 1969 state legislature, clarified existing law in relation to the state's power to take custody over certain types of abandoned property when the rightful owner's last known address was in New York State or the last transaction involving the property apparently took place in New York State.

In the past some dealers in money orders felt that as long as no drafts were issued at the receiving end of the transaction the purchase money did not become abandoned property.

New amendments reduce from 10 to 5 years the dormancy period for unclaimed securities, dividends and redemption payments held by corporations before they revert to state custody.

The provision covering money orders clarifies the state's claim to custodial escheat of abandoned money orders whether or not drafts were issued. It also limits New York's claim to custody of all amounts becoming abandoned after Jan. 1, 1965 to instances where the last known address of the purchaser was in New York or where the address is not available but the order was issued in New York State.

Under state law, abandoned property taken into custody by the comptroller always remains available for repayment to its rightful owner.

SAAB 99 for Garrison's Service

Garrison's Foreign Car Service on Route 28 has received one of the first SAAB 99 automobiles to arrive in the United States.

The SAAB 99, built by the Swedish manufacturers of jet aircraft and automobiles, is an all new five passenger sedan recently introduced to the American public at the International Automobile Show. The new SAAB 99 has already received automotive press acclaim for its roominess, hand adjusted, infinitely variable front seats which conform to any seating posture and a heating and ventilating system which could only have been developed in Sweden.

Powered by a 104.27 cu. in. overhead cam in-line four cylinder engine, the 99 incorporates many characteristics that have made present SAAB models outstanding in their fields — front wheel drive, aerodynamic styling and ultra-safe construction. Added improvements in the new car include four speed, all-synchromesh floor mounted shift, power-assisted disc brakes all-round and a hand brake that operates on independent drums located in-board of the front wheel discs.

Wants Two Flags Planted on Moon By Astronauts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, has his way, the Apollo 11 astronauts will plant two flags on the moon—one that has flown over the Capitol and the other over Independence Hall on July 4.

The House passed a space appropriations bill this week carrying the stipulation that astronauts put an American flag—and no other—on the moon.

Bennett said he planned to make available to the astronauts special silk flags that fly over the Capitol and Independence Hall on July 4, and, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, he said he hoped the astronauts would plant the twin standards on the moon in the Apollo 11 mission slated to blast off July 16.

Bennett said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration informed him it would leave an American flag on the surface of the moon and that it also planned to take to the moon and bring back an American flag for presentation to Congress.

County Veteran's Affairs -- Help for the Age 19 to 90

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON The case was all too typical. A 67-year-old veteran of World War I barely subsisting on a $48 a month Social Security check, went to the Ulster County Division of Veteran's Affairs and asked if he was eligible for a pension. He was. He found he would have been collecting $104 a month for the past two years. "We got him his pension," John Tyler, director of the veteran's service agency told The Freeman. The other half of the team is Charles Culver, the New York State veteran's counselor. The two men work out of the Ulster County Office Building on Fair Street. Their office is one of the busier ones in the building. There were some 5,293 contacts during the period from Jan. 1 to May 31, 3,548 of whom came to the office in person.

From Age 19 to 90

Their job is to help the veteran and their clients range from age 19 to 90. First of all, The Freeman asked them what constitutes a veteran. It was learned that there are two types of veterans; wartime veterans and peacetime veterans. The later includes any serviceman or servicewoman on active duty from 1947 to 1950 and from 1955 to 1964. The peacetime veteran is eligible only for benefits for service-connected disabilities.

The agency's files on wartime veterans goes back to clients from the Spanish-American War and includes the First World War, the Second World War, the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam Conflict, after August of 1964. A serviceman serving after August of 1964 does not necessarily have to have served in the combat zone but he must have served at least 181 days.

According to Tyler, there are some 17,000 to 18,000 ex-servicemen in Ulster County and the number is growing rapidly due to the high turnover in the Vietnam conflict. Tyler did not have figures on Ulster County but he said some 6,000 men from New York are discharged (or separated from active duty) every month.

Pensions Major Concern

Culver said that pensions are the major concern of the older veterans who are eligible. According to Culver, pensions for servicemen are nothing new. "The Pilgrims voted a lifetime pension to anyone injured in the defense of the colony," he said. "The Romans gave land to retired veterans."

Land Donated

DANVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — A 10-acre site has been donated to Dansville Memorial Hospital for construction of a new building. The land was given by Harold A. Shay and is located near Route 36 on the southern end of this village. A four-story building is planned but cost estimates on the new facility were incomplete.

Of particular interest to the younger veterans returning from the Vietnam conflict is the recently approved GI Bill for education. It provides for one and a half month's education for every month of active service not to exceed 36 months. The veteran must use the program within eight years after his separation from active service and a single veteran can receive at least $105 per month toward his education. The returning veteran also is eligible for unemployment insurance of up to 50 per cent of his base service pay to an amount not to exceed $65 a week for 26 weeks. In addition, if a veteran re-applies for his pre-service job within 90 days after separation he has to be rehired. There are also benefits for widows and children of deceased veterans. Numerous Benefits The benefits for eligible veterans are numerous but Culver and Tyler have run across a problem of a certain indifference toward the program. "It's understandable," Tyler said. "Some of the fellows are in such a rush to get out of the service that they don't even bother to listen to their counselors on veterans rights, let alone apply for them." "We've had cases of widows who have been deprived of thousands of dollars of benefits that were rightfully theirs because their husbands failed to register with us. We can still get them the benefits but it's very time consuming tracing a man's service record." "The ex-serviceman should come in and file with us," Tyler said. "It doesn't cost anything and it only takes a few minutes. We're here to help."

Helpful Hints

Sift Flour — If you sift your flour as it is transferred from the store bag to the canister, you won't have to sift it every time you need a cupful or two.

Crisscross' Bacon — Bacon will fry faster if you crisscross the slices in the pan, turning them all at once with a pancake turner.

Freeze Berries First — When grinding or chopping cranberries for relish, cranberry bread, and the like, freeze them first so they won't splash all over the kitchen.

Baking Meat Loaf — If you place two slices of crisscrossed the pan, bread under a meat loaf before turning the pan won't get scorched.

Oakland's Jackson Takes .655 Over .250

(By United Press International)

When evaluating Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics it all depends on whether you view him as a .250-hitter or a .665-sluggier.

There's little or no inbetween for the 23-year old outfielder who freely admits he swings for the horizon. He's made only 41 hits in 164 official at bats this season but 31 of them, including 19 homers which tie him for the major league lead, have been for extra bases.

Jackson did his thing again Wednesday night before a crowd which included President Nixon at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, D.C., when he hit two homers in a 6-4, 13-inning victory over the Senators.

Fleetest Dodger of Them All, Maury Wills Back Home Again

(By The Associated Press)

This is the season that will go down in baseball history as the year in which players were traded, retired, then retired and players retired, retired and were traded.

Donn Clendenon and Ken Harrelson are in the first category, Maury Wills in the second.

Wills, who announced his retirement last week but remained retired for just 48 hours, was back in his old leadoff spot with Los Angeles Wednesday night following the Dodgers' trade with the Montreal Expos.

The presence of the 36-year-old shortstop didn't help, however, as Philadelphia blanked the Dodgers 3-0.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco stopped the New York Mets' 11-game winning streak 7-2. Atlanta whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-1.

St. Louis ripped Cincinnati 10-5, Pittsburgh outslugged Houston 13-8 and San Diego edged Montreal 6-5 in 10 innings.

The Dodgers got Wills back after a nearly 2½-year absence by sending Montreal Ron Fairly and Paul Popovich. The Dodgers also obtained Manny Mota from the Expos.

"When I heard about the trade, I immediately began to think of all the wonderful things that happened to me as a Dodger," said Wills, who played on four Dodger pennant-winning teams and stole a record 104 bases in 1962.

"My legs are in great shape, and I feel as if I'm just getting started."

Wills started quickly. In the first inning, he beat out a grounder to short for a single and then stole his 16th base of the season.

But then he slowed down just as quickly. The rest of the night he grounded out to second, grounded out to third and flied out to left.

The rest of the Dodgers didn't do any better against the Phillies' Billy Champion, who allowed just five hits in his second major league start. John Callison doubled home a pair of Philadelphia runs in the first inning.

The majors longest winning streak of the season came to an end when Gaylord Perry halted the Mets on four hits. Ron Hunt, Willie Mays and Willie McCovey provided the key hits for the Giants with McCovey getting two hits after the Mets walked him three straight times.

Atlanta beat the Cubs for the first time in five tries this season as Phil Niekro pitched a two-hitter for his 10th victory against four defeats. The Braves exploded for four runs in the first inning, two on Orlando Cepeda's bases-loaded double.

Vada Pinson and Lou Brock each drove in three runs for St. Louis. Pinson with a homer and a single and Brock with a double and a single. Cincinnati roughed up starter Mike Torrez, but Jim Grant relieved in the third and scattered seven hits the rest of the way.

Roberto Clemente's grand slam homer capped a six-run rally in the sixth inning that carried Pittsburgh past Houston. Matty Alou led the Pirates' 15-hit onslaught with three hits.

San Diego edged Montreal on Tommy Dean's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded and one out in the 10th. The Padres had rallied from a 5-2 deficit on Ed Spiezio's two-run homer in the sixth and Al Ferrara's run-scoring double in the seventh.

Braves Slate Moore for Opener

KINGSTON — The Braves, still looking for that big pitcher, has nominated Charlie Moore for the starting assignment.

Moore, who will have to work before a highly sophisticated audience, was one of Ulster County Community College's top pitchers and leading hitters during the 1969 season and was selected for the All-Region XV Junior College team.

"I'm interested in getting some hits from Charlie," said Manager Paul Giannuzzi, "but right now I need pitching."

Beaten three times in four starts on the road, the Braves are anxious to put their best foot forward before the home town audience and sluggers Pepitone and Murcer, who will be watching for a few innings at least from the sidelines.

Batters on Rampage In Slow Pitch League

KINGSTON — The City Slow Pitch was another hitters' paradise Wednesday, as Perry's Grill clobbered McDonald's, 18-4, with a 20-hit barrage and Post Office racked up 21 hits in an 18-2 romp over the Mets.

Tom Sottile of Perry's limited McDonald's to seven hits and pitched shutout ball after the fourth inning.

Charlie Bishop, Tom Fiore, clubbed homers for Perry's. Pete Blanschan knocked in four runs with a pair of doubles and a single.

Bob Finch and Joe Edwards combined on an 8-hitter for Post Office, with Finch adding a double and triple on the attack.

Bob Smith stroked a single and homer for Post Office, with Greg Ozzie knocking in four runs on three singles. John Cook stroked three singles.

Joe Stoutenberg delivered three singles for McDonald's and Eddie Alvarez had two of the eight Met hits.

CHARLIE MOORE

Giannuzzi was undecided this morning about the catching slot. "I won't know until game time," he said.

The remainder of the lineup shapes up with Joe Schabot at first base; Mike Patrick, second; Greg Rios at third and Mike Derrenbacher at shortstop. This gives the Braves' inner defense an all-scholastic flavor.

Schabot comes in off a good season at Kentucky Wesleyan where he batted .319 this season. Rios starred for Kingston High and Patrick and Derrenbacher performed for Ulster County Community College. Patrick was an all Mid-Hudson Conference choice.

Jerry Hawkins, the team's opener performer in the 1968 championship season, is back to patrol centerfield, and will be flanked by Ron Valle and Ron Schaefer. The addition of another hard hitting slugger to the pasture is a must if the Braves hope to aspire to another pennant.

Harold Anderson of New Paltz High, a top slugger in the UCLAL, and Ed Mills of Parson College are listed as Braves catcher, with the latter getting the nod for the No. 1 slot. Beacon Astros compiled a 11-10 record during the 1968 season and finished fifth, five and a half games behind the pace setting Braves. They compiled a poor .189 team batting average, but have been considerably strengthened for this season.

The Braves-Astros contest gets under way after 7:45 p. m. pre-game ceremonies in which both Pepitone and Murcer are expected to speak and probably hit a few batting practice pitches.

Area Little League organizations are reminded that the clinic will probably go on nearer to six p. m.

Herdegen Golf Tournament Draws Six Former Champs

Six former champions are among 26 of Ulster County's finest amateur golfers who have been granted automatic qualification for the 19th annual Herdegen Memorial Golf Tournament.

The 36-hole medal event, symbolic of the Ulster County Amateur Championship, will be Saturday and Sunday, June 21-22, at the Wiltwyck and Woodstock clubs.

Eighteen other well known simon pures have been invited to participate in a special qualifying round of 18 holes Saturday at 3 p.m. at The Twaalfskill Club. Ten spots will be at stake.

Leon Randall of Wiltwyck

Country Club, a seven-time winner, is defending champion having won the championship the past three years.

Other past champions in the field include George Hughes of Twaalfskill, who captured the 1951 inaugural event and two more later; Bill Van Aken, of Wiltwyck, a three-time winner (1953, 1955, 1958).

Single winners include Rickey Barthel (1964); Clarence Raichle (1952) and Harvey Bostic (1955). The lone other champion—William (Buzzy) Costello, is no longer in the area.

Champions Qualified

Club champions automatically qualified include Tony Celi of Sawyerkill and David Dean of Woodstock.

Among the players who qualified as the result of finishing in the money in the 1968 tournament are Joe Bostic and Werner Kolln of the Kingston High School squad, who play out of Wiltwyck; Dave Blakely, UCC's No. 1 swinger; Bill Kaufman, Dan Gaffney and Brian Smith of Wiltwyck.

Mike Bruh of Twaalfskill and Jordan Pauker of Wiltwyck round out the list.

In addition to Pauker, collegiate flavor is added by Sam Spiegel of Wiltwyck; Mike Mostransky, New Paltz State; and Frank Muller of Ellenville.

Other Exemptees

Remainder of the exempt fields lists Harold Van Aken and George Cosenza of Wiltwyck; Andy Jasienowski of Sawyerkill; Alvin Boice and Form Coughlin of Twaalfskill.

A newcomer to the field is Mark Fleischer of Saugerties, an unattached IBM employee, who held titles on the collegiate and service levels.

The 18-player qualifying field for Saturday at Twaalfskill include several area high school stars, and a couple of standout names in Albert Queen of Kingston and Charles Brown of Saugerties.

High school entries include Scotty Dean and John Buoy-master of Ontario High; Ted Decker and Ed Lawrence, Rondout Valley; and Eric Kreiger of Ellenville High's Section 9 champions.

Jack Jordan of New Paltz State is another newcomer who will be trying for one of the 10 berths.

Buchanan in Field

The qualifying field also includes such established veterans as Art Ellis, Frank Weller, Charles H. Gaffney, Sy Pesavento, Phil Buchanan, Frank Rizzuti, Charles Brown, Ed Lattina and Charles Stauffer.

There will be no cut in the 36-player finals. The prize list will cover the top scores and ties and the champion receives the traditional Herdegen Jacket in addition to other merchandise awards.

For purposes of the 1970 tournament, only past champions and players in the money will be automatically qualified. All others will compete in open qualifying play for 36 berths.

The qualifying pairings for Saturday:

3:00—Frank Weller, Charles H. Gaffney, W. James Penrose, 3:07—Charles Stauffer, Charles Brown, Ed Lattina.
3:14—Sy Pesavento, Albert Queen, Ray Lindhorst.
3:21—Phil Buchanan, Arthur Ellis, Frank Rizzuti.
3:28—Scotty Dean, John Buoy-master, Eric Krigger.
3:35—Jack Jordan, Al Decker, Bill Lawrence.

This year's Herdegen tournament will be the last to be played at 36 holes. Starting next year, the tournament reverts to its original format of 72 holes of medal play, with an open qualifying round of 36 holes.

WOODSTOCK Waterous was Woodstock club champion three times (1939, 1945, 1949), and club finalist on several other occasions.

He won three divisional titles in the Ulster County Seniors, taking Class F in 1958; Class E in 1959 and Class C in 1964. He also qualified for the Ulster County Amateur tournament several times and won numerous tournaments at Woodstock.

In his youth, Waterous was a professional singer with a magnificent baritone voice. He was in the original cast of The Desert Song by Sigmund Romberg and appeared in numerous Broadway productions before his retirement.

He was the father of two sons—William and Herbert—both of whom won several Woodstock Country Club titles. His widow, Mrs. Charlotta Waterous, resides in Woodstock.

The first 18 holes will be played Saturday, with the finals on Sunday. The low net shooter will be recognized as the tournament winner.

A Woodstock Country Club member from 1936 until his death a couple of years ago, both of whom won several Woodstock Country Club titles. His widow, Mrs. Charlotta Waterous, resides in Woodstock.

Won Senior Titles

Waterous and A. J. (Tony) de Lisio were the motivating factors behind the Woodstock Open for many years. He served as club president and member of the Board of Governors for several terms.

Michael Mottolose, the WCC president, paid high tribute to Waterous.

"The Woodstock Country Club is honored to start this tournament in memory of Allen Waterous," he said. "He was truly one of the outstanding members of our club through its long history. We urge all members to participate in this worthy memorial tournament."

Phoenix Hanover Mighty M Winner

MONTICELLO Robert Camper raised his 1969 victory record at Monticello Raceway to six Wednesday night when he captured the featured fourth race trot with Phoenix Hanover in 2:06.4.

Phoenix Hanover, a gelded seven-year-old son of Hoot Mon-Phyllis Mite was in contention throughout the trot and was never less than fourth from the quarter which was recorded in 31.2. Leading the pack at that point was B. Jamie, Julius Benedict reining, who trotted the half in a blazing 1:02.4 and was still in front at the three quarters which he clocked in 1:35.2.

At the three-quarters, Phoenix Hanover took over, except for a brief moment in the stretch when Highland Dan, driven by Ed Lohmeyer Jr., dashed ahead, Highland Dan's moment of glory was short lived however, and Camper again took his horse to the front to come in first, driving.

Third horse was Mr. Gordon, Ken Heney in the sulky. In the third quarter of the race, Mr. Gordon and Phoenix Hanover fought a see-saw battle for the two hole which they exchanged three times.

The daily double combination Wednesday night was combination of 2 and 1 returning $150.60 for each two-dollar ticket. The late scratch of Winged Byrd in the second race produced a 2 and 5 consolation double worth $26.00.

In the first race the victor was Car Value, a five-year-old mare driven by Elmer Kish. The daughter of Caroloader-Miss Del by Meadow Gene made the mile in 2:09.3, recording her first in the money finish in 15 starts in 1969.

Of the two races, the more interesting was the second, a pace for two-year-olds that was taken by Prince Mac, with Al

Burton reining in 2:06.4. Burton, the owner, trainer and driver for the son of Grand Time-Fair Edna paced a perfect mile, staying in the two hole until the three quarter pole. The leader, until that point was Grand Ball with Gene Montgomery reining who toured the quarter in 31.1, the half in 1:04.3 and the three quarters in 1:35.4. This was a respectable time for the field of youngsters.

A contender worth watching in the future was Bunny Bluecrest, a filly by Butler Hanover-Betty Jo Hanover, by Torpid driven by John Edmunds, that challenged Prince Mac in the stretch to come in second by a half length at the wire. Bunny Bluecrest on June 3 won a betting race in 2:04.2 Pocono Downs beating another two-year-old, a contender whose sire was the immortal Dancer Hanover, and who came in third.

Making Volvo tougher was simply impossible.

Making Volvo faster was not only possible, but simple.

Volvo now comes with a bigger, more powerful engine that's every bit as durable as its old one. So if you come in and buy a Volvo, you'll be immediately impressed with how fast it goes. Then, you'll have years to be impressed with how tough it is.

Fulla Napoleon Given Chance With Overcall

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Looking for a long shot to beat the favored Overcall in the $50,000 Good Time Pace at Yonkers Raceway tonight?

How about Fulla Napoleon or Little Jerry Way, two 20-1 outsiders in the morning line compared to Overcall's 2-5 odds.

Overcall, a 6-year-old who set a world record of 3:02 3/5 in winning the $50,000 International Pace by 8 1/4 lengths a week ago, is considered a shoo-in to make it six straight this year and boost his career earnings over $500,000.

But there's no sure thing in any horse race.

Only last month Laverne Hanover was considered such a standout he was barred from the betting in the $182,000 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway. He finished third to Bye Bye Sam.

SHS Sports Dinner Honors Blind Youth

SAUGERTIES

There were no awards scheduled to be presented at Saugerties High's 17th Annual Sports Banquet but here was a notable exception to the rule this year.

A special trophy was awarded to 18-year-old Frank Meyer, a member of the varsity wrestling team for the past two seasons, as more than 220 students, parents and coaches cheered in the high school cafeteria.

Frank Meyer was something special on the Saugerties High School athletic scene for the past four years. He excelled both on the athletic and scholastic levels. And he has been blind since his freshman year.

Praised by Seither

"This young man has been an inspiration not only to his classmates and teachers, but also to all of us in the athletic department," said Sawyer Athletic Director Fred Seither, in a moving tribute to Meyer.

"His determination to succeed, never apologizing for his handicap, both on and off the field, will not be forgotten," Seither concluded.

Varsity wrestling coach Larry Dake, who presented the special award to Meyer, echoed the AD's sentiments.

"Frank has always been a competitor in everything he has done," said Dake. "His spirit has never faltered and, as a result, he has inspired us as a team and a school. We will never forget what he has shown and taught us."

Meyer lost sight in one eye

FRANK MEYER WITH COACH DAKE

During his junior high school career and was completely blind by the end of his freshman year, when he competed in cross country.

During his time, he has been a fine student, as well as athlete at Saugerties High and will be entering Colgate University in September.

Frank's record as a wrestler was 17 wins, 7 losses and a draw, with a third place finish in the Dutchess County Scholastic League (DCSL).

Owens Is Speaker

Joseph Owens, athletic director at New Paltz State University, was the guest speaker. His subject dealt with the requirements one must meet to be a successful athlete and how these carry over into our every day living.

"Courage, desire, hustle and honesty are the most important qualities a successful athlete can have," said the dynamic Owens. "It is also very important that we follow these tenets in our every day lives," he concluded.

Owens' dynamic speech might well be used as a paraphrase for the type of life Meyer is exemplifying.

The various coaches and cheerleader supervisors introduced members of the varsity squads during the program.

Also in attendance were: Arthur Simmons, president of the Board of Education; Dexter O. Arnold, Superintendent of Schools; Dr. George Hamaty, principal; Fred Seither, AD; all the members of the coaching staff and athletes.

Scherer Stars In Johnny's Win

KINGSTON

Johnny's Shell edged out Van Winkles 5-4 in eight innings, while Strangeloves won over Twaalfskill 7-4 and Hercules topped A. T. & T. 15-11 in city softball action.

Richie Scherer pitched shutout ball through the first five innings for the Shellmen, before Shelly Levy uncorked a 3-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning. That tied the score at 3-3, as Scherer had hit a solo home run in the top of the sixth. John Crespinio hit two fly balls deep to left center allowing Charlie McCullough to tag and score from third on two occasions. McCullough had a perfect 4 for 4 night, Scherer and Al Hutton each had a total of three hits.

In the top of the eighth for the Shellman Scherer doubled with two out. Jim Massa then singled to deep center pushing Scherer all the way home. Massa kept right on going on the throw to home and he ended up safe at home.

Van Winkles were only able to score once in the bottom of the eighth. Ron Cole led the Winkles with a double and two singles.

Joe Modica hit a home run to offset Ted Feeney's homer giving the Strangeloves their victory with a seven run outburst in the second inning. Nip Lasher was the winning pitcher.

Hercules collected 21 hits in their victory over A. T. & T. Jim Suskie and Jake Smith had homers.

Bob (Mouse) Wolven pitched the first no-hitter of the Saugerties Softball League Wednesday.

Wolven, winning his second victory in three starts, struck out only six, but walked only two and allowed only two balls to be hit to the outfield in outdueling Bill Fiskaletti for the win. Fiskaletti, who yielded seven hits, was charged with his third straight loss without a win.

It was a real pitcher's duel until the sixth inning when Michael's erupted for all their tallies. Mike Zowak singled, a sacrifice bunt was thrown wild and Bill Hanna singled home two runs. An error and Wolven's double brought in the final pair. Zowak led the hitters with a single and double.

In Met Division action, Johnny's Hotel broke a 7-7 tie in the bottom of the seventh to edge Helmsmoortel's Insurance, 8-7, although they collected only five hits off Sam Tesoriero. Jack Hillje, now 3 and 1, was the winner on a 10-hitter. Tesoriero is 1 and 2.

Bob Varrell stroked a double and two singles and Bob McCaig rapped a single-triple combination.

El Pelham pitched a one-hitter, a double by Rich Greco, as McConekey's Funeral Home clobbered Boo's Tavern, 10-4, for their fifth win in six Village Conference games.

Pelham lost his no-hitter with two outs in the last inning when Greco looped a double along the right field line.

Barry Lindsay led McConekey's attack with a double, triple, homer and five RBIs. The morticians now lead the league by a full game.

Fire Fighting A Team Effort, Says Tyrrell

James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for mayor of Kingston, said today that his administration will attempt to establish a better working arrangement between the paid fire department and the volunteer companies.

Tyrrell said other cities are serviced by volunteer companies alone, and other communities have volunteer firemen working with the paid firemen in the same firehouse.

The Republican candidate said he does not want his remarks interpreted as a blanket criticism of the paid fire department. However, at the present time, according to several volunteer firemen and paid firemen, the working arrangement between the two organizations is not what it can be, in the future.

Tyrrell said, with the additional development anticipated in the city of Kingston there will be a need for additional fire protection in the city. He said the taxpayers are concerned about additional salaries and the ever increasing costs of operating a city. He said, "It is my hope to bring an efficient working agreement between the two groups, so as to save the taxpayer's money in the future."

When speaking of the paid fire department and their relations with the city government, Tyrrell said the new administration will not fail to negotiate with any collective bargaining team representing the city fire department. The salaries of firemen in comparable cities will be examined and their impact on the particular community will be evaluated. Tyrrell said, "After the evaluation period is completed, the necessary changes in the city salary schedule will be recommended."

To Purchase Milan Votes 72-Acre Site

MILAN be landfill site. State law prohibits burning of town trash as of January, 1969. The present leased facilities would be useless by this autumn, prompting the board to go ahead with plans for purchase. The land borders the Taconic Parkway and Route 199, major thoroughfares.

Only about five acres will be needed for landfill. The balance will be used as a gravel bed and projected recreation uses. A small stream and pond are on the property.

Town Supervisor Thomas J. Odak said at the public hearing on the purchase that the site was "ideal." He also pointed out that land would not be available in the future at such prices, if at all.

West Shokan Barn Destroyed

WEST SHOKAN was undetermined, although Chief Fox noted that the building had been completely destroyed. The fire fighters returned to their stations at approximately 10 o'clock.

Deputy Chiefs John Bachor and Robert Henderson were in charge of the operation.

An advertisement that appeared in the Freeman Tuesday for the Numrich Arms Corp. listed the wrong business hours. The correct hours of business are from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day including Sunday and from Friday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

While volunteers were battling the blaze, sparks flew from the barn to the roof of an abandoned boarding house some 300 feet away up a slight incline. The blaze was doused with minor damage to the structure. The cause of the original fire was undetermined, although Chief Fox noted that the building had been completely destroyed. The fire fighters returned to their stations at approximately 10 o'clock.

Dear Abby

Crying May Be Healthy

By ABIGAIL BAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Every Memorial day (or Decoration day as some people still call it) my mother goes out to the cemetery and tears herself apart over the graves of her mother, her father, her brother, and some other relatives who are buried there. I have begged her not to go, but she won't listen to me.

My mother is not a well woman, Abby, and carrying on that way can't help but take a lot out of her. This year when I asked my sister to help me try to talk my mother out of going, she said, "If she wants to go, let her. It does a person good to have a good cry." I say, "If a person can avoid an emotional upset (and believe me, this is one) it is better to avoid it."

Please ask some of your medical consultants for their opinions.

A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Three psychiatrists agree that what may appear to you to be an "emotional upset" may actually be a healthy venting exercise. It depends upon the person. It's a good guess that your mother has some unresolved feelings of grief, and she feels better after "tearing herself apart," so let her cry.

DEAR ABBY: I have a couple of parents like you wouldn't believe. My mother would have made a perfect warden for San Quentin, and my father should have been with the FBI. They never take my word for anything. No matter what I say, they check up on me.

Abby, I am a 15-year-old honor roll student. I don't lie.

but I am treated like a criminal. Sometimes I feel like taking off and never coming back. I am an only child, but that's no excuse. How does a guy get his parents to trust him?

DEAR JOHNNY: Your parents probably check up on you because they think you're too good to be true. Don't resent it. Be grateful that they care enough about you to want to know where you are and what you're up to. Just keep on being trustworthy and you'll find them trusting you more, and checking on you less.

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who I am sure does not hear half of what is going on, but she absolutely refuses to admit that she is deaf! Everyone yells at her, and even then they have to repeat what they've said two or three times.

I once mentioned that I thought she should have her hearing tested and she exploded in anger. Why is it a disgrace to wear a hearing aid? People who can't see are perfectly willing to go to an eye doctor and get themselves fitted with glasses.

Now, what do you do with a stubborn ox like that?

DEAR RELATIVE: Until this relative is willing to admit that she has a hearing loss, you may as well talk to the wall. There are none so deaf as those who will not hear.

DEAR ABBY: Who do you think should decide on how many children a couple should have? The husband or the wife? I think the wife should because she's the one who has to have them, and she's also the one who does most of the work when it comes to raising them. My husband says he thinks the man should decide. We've been married only three months and don't have any yet, but I think two is plenty. My husband wants four. Can you settle this?

DEAR ARGUING: Why not split the difference and plan on three? Or better yet, have two and then decide if you want to go for more.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to write Letters for All Occasions."

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

Forecast for Friday, June 13, 1969

ARIS (March 21-April 19): Hold off on travel, if practical. There may be unfinished business here and now. Running away merely delays facing the music. Steer clear of disputes with relatives. Accent calm approach.

TARUS (April 20-May 20): You feel you must have something. But quiet reflection could result in ultimate bargain. Means avoid acting merely on impulse. A new idea is worthwhile — if you nourish it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Avoid unnecessary speed. Don't drive with one tonight who is in temperate. Excitement indicated, but be sure it is constructive. Message clear before day is finished.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): What was secret could be revealed. Maintain poise — be diplomatic. Social occasion to night results in exciting, new contact. You make discoveries.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): There are arguments — but they are short-lived. Know this — avoid being superstitious. You tend to be impatient with rules, regulations and restrictions. Try a little patience.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Conflict may arise between duty and desire. If you apply yourself early, you can find pleasure tonight. Obtain hint from LEO message. Family member means well, loves you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may have to complete duty at home before embarking on journey. Domestic adjustment is highlighted. Much is made clear by message, call, correspondence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Friendly gesture to associate, co-workers is advised. Go out of your way to express appreciation for special services. Then day takes on meaningful glow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Play waiting game. Many around you rush, push, cajole. Exercise will power. If you wait, you also learn. You have responsibility, obligation. Keep this in mind.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Finish rather than begin projects. Study SAGITTARIUS message. Accent quality; don't skip essentials. Avoid extremes. Moderation is road to success today.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Impulsiveness could lead to lover's quarrel. Fresh viewpoint is beneficial. Realize you don't own any one. Start this premise and problems dissolve.

PISCES Feb. 19-March 20): Routine is charged. Be ready for new experiences. One you respect shares knowledge. You may be presented with valuable opportunity. Shake off lethargy.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have a quick wit, are a natural entertainer. If single marriage is on horizon. If married, there could be addition to family. Business prospects brighten. Expansion is indicated.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DIFFERENT DAD: (Q.) Before, my dad was always impatient. He never would wait for us for anything. He always kept us on our toes and we'd never ask him to go out of his way for us.

He's different now. I know because I got a part-time job with his company to help make money for college. I ride to work with him.

We could go a very fast route, but Dad goes out of his way—about 15 minutes—to pick a girl up. The girl is never on time. There we sit. I can't believe it. My dad never loses his patience with her. He greets her happily every morning.

In the evening it's the same way, although I do not ride home with Dad. He has to take the girl home and is always late for dinner. My mom waits for him and taps her foot but doesn't say anything. I don't either.

Would I be out of line to ask Dad a few why's?—A Bothered Teen-ager in Philadelphia.

(A.) You would be in order to talk with your dad. Don't be obnoxious or preachy—just concerned. Parents sometimes think such things go unnoticed. But they don't.

GARTER: (Q.) Is it proper for a guy going steady with a girl to ask for her garter at the end of their prom date?

Also, how do I know she has garters on, or do all girls wear them on such an occasion?—Confused Guy in Detroit.

(A.) Tell your date ahead of time—before the night of the prom—that you would like to have her garter after the big event.

If she says no, don't argue.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

'Hunger' Most Memorable

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The fourth annual Critics' Consensus CBS-TV documentary "Hunger in America" as the most memorable television program of the past year.

Eighteen daily newspaper television columnists, including this writer, are members of the nationwide Critics' Consensus. The period covered in the latest voting was from May 1, 1968 to May 17, 1969.

"Hunger in America," part of the "CBS Reports" series of occasional broadcasts, was the runnerup to "Hunger in America" was ABC-TV's summer Olympics coverage in Mexico City. It got 10 votes, or a majority.

This was the second consecutive year that only one show got two-thirds of the ballots. ABC-TV's four-hour documentary, "Africa," touched nerves in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, was written by producer Martin Davis. The reporters were David Culhane and Charles Kuralt. Don Hewitt was the executive producer.

The runnerup to "Hunger in America" was ABC-TV's summer Olympics coverage in Mexico City. It got 10 votes, or a majority.

Third in the voting was ABC-TV's weekly series of original musical comedies, "That's Life," which dealt with a newlywed couple played by Robert Morse and E. J. Peaker. The series has been canceled because of very low ratings. It got nine affirmative votes in the critics' consensus.

Fourth, with eight ballots, was Geraldine Page for her performance in ABC-TV's "The Thanksgiving Visitor," an hour special based on Truman Capote's reminiscences of his childhood in the rural South. Strayed, narrated by Bill Cosby. And "Confrontation," a CBS-TV series, "The Neighborhood," to NBC-TV's "Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" series and NBC-TV's Convention and concurrent events.

Avoidance Play Adds to Arsenal

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One variation of the loser-on-loser play is the avoidance play. The basic idea of the avoidance play is to keep the dangerous opponent out of the lead.

We don't think much of East's three-club opening. Had he elected to pass, West would have opened with one diamond. The chances are that he would wind up playing a diamond part-score and making four-odd.

However, East did open three clubs. West passed. He must have had previous experience with East's preempts. North reopened with a double and South contented himself with a three-heart bid.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued the suit in spite of receiving the duce from his partner. We can't really blame West for this although a spade shift at trick two would have cooked South's goose.

The third diamond lead gave South a chance to make a successful avoidance play. Instead of ruffing the third diamond he discarded the six of spades.

From this point on there was no way for the defense to take any other trick except the ace of trumps.

Suppose South had carelessly ruffed the third diamond. West would duck the first trump lead, take the second or third. This would make no difference. Then he would shift to a spade.

South would have no way to get to his own hand to draw the remaining trumps. East

Red Guns Continue the Onslaught

SAIGON (UPI) — Guerrilla rockets and mortars slammed into 23 towns and Allied camps late Wednesday and early today, bringing to 360 the number of sites hit in the past week of stepped-up bombardments.

Military spokesmen announcing the attacks, said at least 10 South Vietnamese civilians were killed, eight of them in a two-round mortar barrage into Khien Duc, 105 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese began their latest round of intensified shelling last Thursday, hitting 102 targets as a prelude to the Midway Island summit between Presidents Nixon and Nguyen Van Thieu.

Heaviest of the bombardments into civilian centers was a 50-round mortar attack against Tra On, 72 miles southeast of Saigon, where one South Vietnamese soldier and two civilians were killed. Three soldiers and 18 civilians suffered wounds.

War communiques listed two ground battles from Wednesday afternoon, including a Communist ambush which U.S. helicopter gunships smashed into the Central Highlands. Spokesmen said 42 guerrillas were killed.

The ambushers opened up on a U.S. 4th Infantry Division convoy with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades and small arms but broke off under aerial attack. One GI was killed and one wounded, the announcement said.

Another fight raged 45 miles northwest of Saigon where troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division behind armored personnel carriers killed 39 Communists while reporting light losses.

Earlier Wednesday, the Communists invaded one U.S. base on the Northern coast and attacked another, killing 16 Americans and wounding 60.

U.S. B52 bombers went after Viet Cong and North Vietnamese bivouacs on approach routes to Saigon and near the highlands base at Dak To in eight overnight strikes, military spokesmen said.

Five of the raids hit targets northwest and southwest of Dak To, where U.S. officials have said a North Vietnamese division of about 10,000 men has moved in, triggering heavy fighting recently.

Two other flights of the big bombers slammed their 20-ton bombloads into suspected Communist positions 25 to 27 miles southeast of Saigon and northwest of the city near Tay Ninh, another hotspot.

Spain Sentences Priests to Prison

BURGOS, Spain (AP) — A Spanish military court has sentenced five Roman Catholic priests to prison terms ranging from 10 to 12 years for Basque separatist activity, authorities announced today.

The sentences were the stiffest penalties meted out to priests in the Franco government's current drive to break up the independence movement in the three Basque provinces of northwest Spain.

Meanwhile in Catalonia, another hotbed of anti-Franco sentiment on the northeast coast of Spain, six priests were in the sixth day of a hunger strike at the Barcelona diocesan seminary in support of the Basque priests.

The Basque priests were tried behind closed doors Wednesday on charges of military rebellion and dispensing subversive propaganda.

They had sought sanctuary in the headquarters of the Bilbao diocese on May 30 and went on a hunger strike to protest the police crackdown on separatists. Three days later the police invaded the building and arrested the priests despite the refusal of Bishop Jose Maria Cirarda to grant them permission to enter.

At least one other priest has been tried for separatist activities in the government's nine-month-old drive. He was ordered jailed for a year and fined $142 on May 5 after he wrote the mayor and councilmen of Amorebieta warning them not to attend services at his church.

At least 40 priests are reported under arrest, and others have gone underground to escape detention.

Red Summit Tackles Woes

MOSCOW (UPI) — Communism's leaders today tackled their world problems with discussion on one of the biggest ones, that of Czechoslovakia, all but ruled out by the Czechoslovaks themselves.

Gustav Husak, Czechoslovak Communist party first secretary, had condemned debate on Czechoslovakia by the 75-nation Communist summit meeting in a speech Wednesday.

"Discussion contradicts our interests and is basically against the Soviet Union and the Socialist countries with whom our party, state and people are connected by ties of international communism, brotherhood, vital interests of freedom and the independence of Czechoslovakia," Husak said.

The draft of the document on problems for discussion at the summit said the main issues were:

An analysis of the international situation, methods of the struggle against imperialism, relations between the parties, relations between Communist parties and other "progressive parties."

The rift between China and the Soviet Union and the issue of Czechoslovakia were not on the agenda.

Husak was the last to speak among ruling party leaders Wednesday.

He was replying to criticism of the invasion by four of the 40 delegates who had spoken before him. They were representatives of Italy, Switzerland, Norway and Australia.

He said they were uninformed, the whole thing was an internal issue and their comments made it harder to keep the Communist party strong in his country.

Husak told the summit meeting that before the Soviet bloc invasion, party leaders in Czechoslovakia "lacked unity, showed naivete and political romanticism, committed gratuitous acts and used cheap slogans without a class foundation."

They showed weakness in their handling of anti-Socialist attacks, Husak said, and "the leadership of the fraternal parties lost their confidence in the capacity of the Czechoslovak (Communist) party to end the crisis."
